CIVIL SERVICE SCANDAL

Two Clerks Charged With Selling Questions to Police Removed

BOSTON, April 6.—Commissioner Payson Dana yesterday announced that he had cancelled the civil service examinations given last month to patrolmen and sergeants for promotion.

Are You Nervous?

Do you feel on the verge of a breakdown? Does your back ache or do you feel nervous? Listen to what this woman says—

Schenectady, N. Y.—"For many years I have been a user of Dr. Pierce's remedies whenever the occasion warranted it and I have never found them lacking, always obtaining good and beneficial results. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a woman's tonic and nerve is excellent. On two occasions I was wonderfully helped by its use. I had two very severe nervous breakdowns, one in early years and again when I was in the forties, and the 'Favorite Prescription' restored me to health and strength each time.

"Also I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and consider it the best blood medicine and building tonic one can take. It renovates and purifies the whole system and makes you feel as though you had a new lease on life."—Mrs. Amanda Case, 861 Becker St.

You can get either of these wonderful tonics from your nearest druggist in tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There is no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles. The Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

In the Boston police department and had removed from office Assistant Civil Service Examiners John McMaisters and Frederic Thomas, whom, he alleged, confessed they had sold candidates advance copies of the examination questions.

Police Commissioner Wilson is conducting an investigation and declared that members of the department who were found to have participated in the fraud would be brought before the department trial board on charges seeking their dismissal and that court action would follow.

Sergeant on "Sick Leave"

Sergeant Albert W. Carnes, a detective sergeant attached to the automobile division at police headquarters, who was questioned in connection with the case, is officially on "sick leave." He was seen at his home, 4100 Washington street, Roslindale, last night, but refused to come to the door.

Commissioner Wilson said that Sergeant Carnes' resignation had been received, but that it had not been acted on. He declared that the suspension of Traffic Officer James A. Steele and William T. Ellis pending an investigation of an automobile case had no connection with the civil service matter. Investigation by the authorities has been in progress a week. It came to a head Saturday when Commissioner Dana called McMaisters and Thomas before him and confronted them with charges of tampering with examination papers.

Commissioner Dana said that he is conducting a complete investigation. McMaisters and Thomas, he declares, admitted giving out copies of the questions to be used in the examination of candidates for lieutenants. He believes, however, they did not give out advance copies of the examination papers of candidates for sergeants. Nevertheless the civil service head cancelled both examinations.

McMaisters has been an assistant examiner about two years and Thomas for a period of a year and a half. Should it be found that irregularities extended to other examinations, the commissioner said these also would be cancelled. As yet he had no knowledge of other cases.

Commissioner Dana said: "Information came to me that there was a possibility that copies of questions for examination for lieutenants in the Boston police department, held March 27, had been sold to some of

IN ENGRAVING BUREAU UPHEAVAL

Louis Albert Hill, left, new director of the bureau of printing and engraving, succeeding James F. Wilmarth, right. Resolutions for investigation into the sudden dismissal of Wilmarth and practically his entire staff have been introduced in congress and the senate.

The applicants for examination by two employees of the civil service department, their names being McMaisters and Thomas.

The examination of 185 Boston patrolmen seeking promotion to the grade of sergeant was held Saturday, March 25. The examination of nearly 100 Boston police sergeants seeking promotion to the rank of lieutenant or inspector was held March 27. The examination was limited to men who had held the rank of patrolman or sergeant for at least five years.

Government Starts Inquiry

Gov. Cox has begun an investigation through state departments. It is anticipated that Commissioner Dana's report of the occurrence to the governor will be referred to Attorney General Allen for a decision on points of law involved.

It is understood that the copies of the question papers to be used in the lieutenant examination did not go directly to any member of the Boston police department, but passed first into the hands of a man closely connected with a member of the department. The go-between is a minor official at the Suffolk court house. It is said.

$250 Wark Price of List

That fraud was being practised in the civil service examinations was first called to the attention of the authorities by a veteran police sergeant, to whom an advance was made. He was non-committal on the proposal, but reported it to Superintendent Crowder. It was said that the price asked for the question list was $250.

AMERICAN CARDINALS HONORED BY POPE

BOSTON, April 6.—The life-long permission to have a private chapel, in which to celebrate mass, wherever he may live, has been granted by Pope Pius XI to the secretary of Cardinal O'Connell, according to information received last night by cable message from Rome.

Whether this honor has been conferred upon the Rt. Rev. Richard J. Haberlin, official secretary to Cardinal O'Connell, or upon the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Spillane, permanent pastor of St. Joseph's church, Roxbury, both of whom accompanied Cardinal O'Connell to Rome, is yet a matter of doubt.

In the absence of definite naming, it is not known which of the clergymen is thus honored, but it is believed in religious circles that the one named is Monsignor Haberlin, who accompanied Cardinal O'Connell to Rome as his secretary and who, it is presumed, would have accompanied him to the conclave when the cardinal's party arrived in time.

The privilege to have a private chapel in which to celebrate mass is conceded by Pope Pius XI to the secretaries who accompanied Cardinal O'Connell of Boston; Cardinal Bagin of Philadelphia, although these prelates arrived too late to participate in the conclave. This privilege is given all the secretaries who attended the cardinal during the conclave.

The privilege of celebrating mass in private chapel is said by Bishop Anderson, in charge of the archdiocese during the absence of Cardinal O'Connell, to be a signal honor, as it is usually given only to bishops of the church.

SUPERIOR CHEVROLET COMPLETE FOR $615

Few cars if any attracted more attention at the recent Boston show than did the exhibition of Chevrolet cars. Conspicuous among these cars is the Superior Chevrolet, which sells at $615 delivered. "This," according to Frank Wodell, of the Senter Auto company, 532 Middlesex street, "is the lowest priced completely equipped automobile in the world manufactured in volume and equipped with three-speed and reverse standard transmission."

This Chevrolet model has been wonderfully improved in the past few months. Chief among these improvements are a newly designed spiral bevel ring gear and pinion rear axle assembly, the parts of which are not interchangeable with any other make of car. Timken roller bearings on front wheels, hand controlled emergency brake lever, new tapered knuckle and heavier steering arm, positive alignment of transmission secured through new methods of assembly, re-designing of seating arrangements in the open models, also proved front and rear springs—all sturdier, more convenient and more comfortable.

LOCAL GREER COMMUNITY

A meeting of the members of the local Greer community will be held this evening in the parochial school hall for the purpose of making arrangements for the observance of the 101st anniversary of the independence of Greece. It is believed that the celebration will be in the form of a mass meeting in Association hall next Sunday afternoon with patriotic addresses by prominent speakers.

BIG BUSINESS IN AUTOMOBILE TOPS

During the war and for the period of big automobile demand immediately following the close of the war, touring and roadster models of many makes were put out with inferior tops. The result is that many car owners are obliged to have new tops put on their cars. The auto department of the overan harness company is now doing an abnormal business in automobile tops. They are equipped to do regular factory work and are kept going at top notch speed at this season of the year.

MOVIE ENTERTAINMENT BY LOWELL AD CLUB

An interested audience watched the moving picture show given last night in the chamber of commerce, under the auspices of the Lowell Advertising club. The show was open to the public, free of charge, and a number availed themselves of the opportunity to witness one of the country's most popular actors, Douglas Fairbanks.

While the picture was not the latest creation of this screen star, it showed him in one of his best roles. It was entitled "The Matrimonial" and gave "Doug" plenty of chance to cut up to the queen's taste. For more than two hours he cut up more antics, did more running and racing around at top speed than any collection of circus performers. A comedy called "Inhabited the Sallow" completed the bill.

The screen was set up against one of the hall doors and the machine near the windows. Although the pictures were a bit smaller than those shown in the regular theatres, they were clear at all times. The pictures and machine were furnished through the courtesy of the Prince-Walter company.

Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Lovjoy, Mrs. Walter Muzzey, Mrs. John Osgood, Mrs. William Robertson, Miss Emily Skilton, Mrs. Carl J. Sittler, Mrs. Cumner Talbot and Mrs. George Upton. The annual reports submitted by Mrs. Walter L. Muzzey, retiring treasurer, and Miss Frances E. McNair, general secretary, gave proof of a year of progress, despite the fact that a reduced budget made general expansion and development impossible. A more substantial bank balance was on hand March 3 of this year than on March 1 of 1921.

THE NEW DORT DELIVERY CAR

In response to an insistent demand on the part of Dort dealers and their customers, the Dort Motor Car company now adds a half-ton delivery car to its line.

This car measures squarely up to the Dort policy of building well. In a series of the most thorough tests, it has proved itself equal in factors of strength, stamina and endurance to light delivery cars of much higher price.

Regardless of its ability to stand comparison with the best the market affords, the Dort half-ton delivery car is sold at a surprisingly low figure. It will merit your most careful consideration.

GASOLINE

THE VOLATILE GAS

(Volatility is the readiness with which gasoline gives up its power)

Use up the rest of that gasoline in your tank; drain it out dry; fill up with Texaco Gasoline—and then never fill with any other.

From that minute you will get greater mileage. You will get easier starting. You will notice more sensitive acceleration. And from that minute your upkeep costs will begin to drop. Do that and you will have a better car.

Drive up to any Texaco pump for Texaco Gasoline. It's the volatile gas—there's the difference.

Texaco Motor Oils are heavy-body lubricants and are distinguished by their clear pale color. Light, medium, heavy and extra-heavy—they fit all cars and all conditions. You will find them wherever you see the Texaco red star.

"HEARTBURN AND HEADACHES STOPPED BY INTERNAL BATHS"

Mrs. E. D. Bailey, 123 Channel St., Newark, N. J., writes Tyrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"I can truthfully say that the Cascade has done me a wonderful lot of good. I had heartburn or sour stomach for 15 years and would take soda in a little water to relieve the misery for a short time. But since using the Cascade I have never been bothered that way, and I can eat anything. I have also suffered so from sick headaches, and have used the Cascade for them and can cure one in one-half hour. I have had very few headaches since using the Cascade. The Cascade is a grand thing in that it helps you to help yourself."

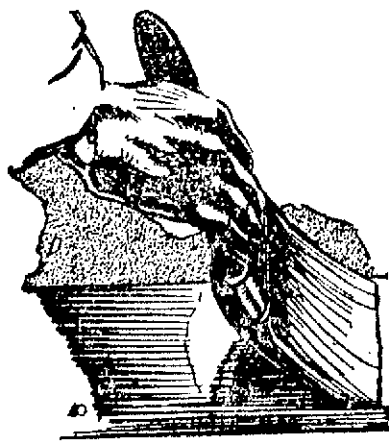

The "J. R. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Bilelessness, Headaches and the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

LIGGETT'S DRUG STORES will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the "J. R. L. Cascade," why it is so certain in its results, and will give you free of cost, an interesting little book containing the results of the experiences of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell of New York, who was a specialist on intestinal complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not cut this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.—Adv.

Turks. The garrison numbering 10 men offered no resistance, some remaining with the republicans. Two automobile loads of armed men went to Ballyhaunis, County Mayo, Tuesday night, says the Dublin Herald, and entered the houses of two disbanded members of the Royal Irish Constabulary named Cranna and Muller, and shot and killed Cranna, who was in bed, and seriously wounded Muller.

The Irish Independent says armed youths entered Swinford, Mayo, Tuesday during the weekly market. They ordered the market stopped and the stores closed for 10 minutes. Their demand was refused, and after firing shots in the air the youths left the village.

Later, however, 100 of them came back and wrecked shops which still refused to close. They continued the disorders until everything was shut down. A local judge who resisted the wreckers was attacked.

One hundred men yesterday drove off a large number of cattle from a grazing ranch near Carrick-on-Shannon. This is the second incident of its kind this week.

The publicity department at the Beggar's Bush barracks, near here, yesterday quoted Captain Hurley of the I. R. A., who was operated on in a Dublin hospital yesterday for a wound, as saying he was shot in the thigh and wrist at Galway by a party of men who demanded from him the keys to the Renmore barracks.

WALTHAM, April 6.—Having in his left-hand vest pocket a watch which deflected one of the bandits' bullets from his heart, undoubtedly saved the life of George A. Sumner of 13 Mt. Vernon street, Charlestown, night inspector for the Walcott Lunch company, who is in a serious condition at the Waltham hospital as a result of a murderous attack made on him early yesterday morning by a group of five automobile bandits, near the Waltham-Watertown boundary line.

During the battle in which fully a dozen shots were exchanged, Sumner was shot twice in the left leg, below the knee, while the bullet which completely shattered his watch was deflected.

The discovery of the shattered watch was made at the hospital, after his leg had been dressed. As he was being undressed the battered timepiece was found in the vest pocket and one bullet fell to the floor. While Sumner's condition is serious, it is not considered dangerous.

Sumner believes that the bandits expected to find the receipts of a large number of lunch rooms upon him. However, he had only a small sum of money, which they failed to get.

SEN. WALSH URGES AERONAUTICS SCHOOL

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator David I. Walsh's resolution directing the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy to report to congress on the feasibility of establishing a school of aeronautics was passed by a unanimous vote in the senate yesterday without a roll call.

With reports that the two secretaries are likely to give, Mr. Walsh is hoping that it will be possible to focus the attention of the country on the vital need of maintaining an efficient air force. There is the likelihood that both secretaries will favor the present method of training airman and urge a larger appropriation to carry out the work of the departments. But that is not what Senator Walsh's

"I want to see created," he said yesterday, "an academy along just the same lines as West Point and Annapolis, where a cadet will receive four years' training in the theory and practice of aviation. I know that I am a great many years ahead of the average conception of the potentiality of air navigation. I do not want to pose as a prophet of what is going to happen 25 years from now, but I do think that we should not be behind in our study and development of this all-important branch of national defense. It is my aim to focus the attention of the country on this matter. We should have government plants for the turning out of aircraft in the same way there are government arsenals and navy yards. I am hoping that the reports that the two secretaries will make on this matter will bring before the people of this country the need of maintaining an equal standard with foreign countries in this branch of the transportation service."

POWER OF FRENCH DELEGATES RESTRICTED

PARIS, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The French delegates are going to the Genoa conference without full powers. This decision by the government may develop complications.

It is explained by persons close to Premier Poincare that he was obliged to make strict reservations regarding the powers of the French delegation because of the sensitiveness of parliament.

U. S. ENTERED WAR FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Today is the fifth anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the war against Germany, as it was on April 6, 1917, that this country declared that a state of war existed between the United States and the German empire.

In the words of President Wilson, America on that date was again "privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth."

CODE FOR IDEAL POLICE OFFICERS

BOSTON, April 6.—A code for ideal police officers was given by Chief of Police John L. Sullivan of Pittsfield, to the Massachusetts Safety conference. "Police officers," he said, "should be patient, kind and courteous, talk, think and dream 'safety first' for the people they serve; should earn appreciation of citizens by giving them friendly warnings, when needed, and should not 'call down' traffic offenders in public when it can be avoided. Policemen should be close friends of children and try to accomplish the untold good they can do for their fellow man."

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Members of Former Royal Family and Suite at Funeral of Ex-Emperor

PUNCHAL, Madeira, April 6.—(By the Associated Press) Perfect weather marked the funeral of former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, yesterday. The coffin, covered with the old Austria-Hungarian flag, and surrounded with floral crosses and wreaths, was conveyed in a hearse to the temporary mausoleum erected in the parish church.

The ceremony was impressive and was attended by members of the former royal family and their suite. The service was conducted by the bishop in full robes and his attending clergy. The route to the church was lined with people, and nothing but respect was shown as the procession passed.

MANDARIN SLEEVES CHARACTERIZES NEW COATS

Topcoats of the moment are almost without exception shown with wide mandarin sleeves. Yet the smart suit of this season has still in most cases, the extremely snug sleeve that has been in vogue for several years. Why?

To learn the reason for the wide sleeves of the new coats, one must consider the dresses over which they will be worn, for the full-length coat is the boon companion of the one-piece frock, and must conform to that frock's changing moods or see itself supplanted by a cape.

The bare elbow has for some months been hiding itself in long and wide sleeves, some hanging loosely, mandarin fashion, others gathered into a snug cuff or frill at the wrist. It is to accommodate these large sleeves of the newest frocks, that topcoats widen their armholes sometimes actually to the waist line, and add many inches to their width from shoulder to cuff.

Woods and homespun will undoubtedly furnish most of the plainer type of topcoats for 1922. Such fabrics are desirable for business, motor and rainy day wear.

In Paris, rayon, lilies de la mer and silk are said to be replacing serge. Kashia cloth is also somewhat used for coats, as its agreeable softness lends itself well to draping and loose, graceful sleeve effects.

Broadcloth is once more becoming fashionable. Several new twill cloths are on the market. Marvella, velveteen, piquette, spongew, ecopong, Scotch knit, camel's tail, polo cloth, bolivia and norman-tail are all good for the spring coat. For a dressy coat, nothing is lovelier than duvetine, which drapes beautifully and has an air of elegance, though it is now selling at about one-third of its former price.

DROP PROMISE TO OBEY

Episcopal Church Committee Urges Changes in Marriage Ceremony

NEW YORK, April 6. (By the Associated Press).—Recognition of the changed status of women by striking from the Episcopal marriage ceremony the promise to obey, and eliminating the compulsory giving in marriage, was proposed by the commission on revision of the book of common prayer in a report made public last night.

Gaining equal rights with men in their marriage vows, however, the women would lose a special privilege now accorded them. For the proposal to change the ceremony also provides for striking out the bridegroom's pledge, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

The commission's report, published in the form of a 250-page book, and proposing more than 250 alterations and the inclusion of seven entirely new offices, or forms of worship, will be submitted to the triennial general convention of the church at Portland, Ore., next September. Under the constitution of the church it cannot be adopted until it has been approved by two general conventions, but members of the commission hope to see the changes finally ratified at the 1925 convention.

DENBY WARNS U. S. NAVY AGAINST SOVIET PLOTS

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The discovery of efforts to sovietize and communize the United States navy brought from Secretary Denby yesterday a warning to the navy's commissioned and enlisted personnel that disloyalty would not be tolerated.

Mr. Denby declined to give any details of the information in his possession on the subject. It had come to him personally, he said, and was sufficient to justify him in taking action. The source of the efforts at which his warning was aimed, Mr. Denby did not care to disclose, but the official communication issued by him to the naval service shows that organizations in foreign countries are behind the effort to breed disloyalty and dissatisfaction among officers and men. The warning was today sent broadcast to naval stations and ships. Its terms are such as to indicate that the Bolshevik and communistic propaganda efforts have become serious enough to compel action.

New Radio Marvel Perfected By Squier, "Edison of the Air"

NEW YORK, April 6.—The "Edison of the radio," Major General George O. Squier, chief of the army signal service, is about to launch a new marvel on a world too bewildered by wireless wonders to have any capacity for wonder left. When his new device is ready you will be able to carry your wireless set in the form of a ring, ever ready for a chat with some friend out of town or with your wife in case she wants to remind you about matching that piece of silk she planned to wear in your pocket.

Or you can safely take an afternoon off to go to the ball game, confident that a buzzing in the cane you carry over your arm will notify you in case your secretary calls you up and that you will be able to close that big deal with a few pregnant words into your walking stick while watching Babe Ruth make another one. Or you can—

But it's no use speculating for the wildest stretch of imagination might fall short of the next piece of radio wizardry from General Squier, although it would seem to a layman that the only thing left for him to invent is a method of radio-telephoning without any instrument at all, just by thinking of the person you want to call up. This bright idea is offered to General Squier with diffidence, free of charge.

Miracles Free of Charge

Which recalls the fact that the general is turning out his miracles free of charge. With the selfish devotion of the true scientist, he bestows his brain children upon humanity.

It was but recently that General Squier perfected a device enabling anybody living in an electric lighted house to receive broadcasting service by simply attaching the usual receiving instrument to a light socket, thus

CONDITIONS THAT CALL FOR A TONIC

Weak, run down, lacking strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, without appetite, digestion disturbed—these are the symptoms named by a great majority of the people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills correct the condition described and if you have these symptoms you should give them a trial. They are especially good for the debility following the grip and influenza as this statement shows.

"An attack of the grip, left me very weak and run down," says Mrs. Emma Silva, of No. 105 Huntington street, East Boston, Mass. "And I did not get my strength back. I was tired, had no appetite, did not have any appetite and at times I was very nervous. I could not stand any noise and did not sleep well. I had headaches that affected my eyes and my complexion was bad. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and as I had heard from friends that they were good I gave them a trial."

"While I was using the first box I noticed that my appetite was getting better and as I continued the treatment I could see that my strength was increasing. My nerves grew stronger and I began to feel like myself. I know that I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I have taken no other medicine."

doing away with the necessity for antenna and a lot of contraptions. He demonstrated the invention at the Signal Corps headquarters in Washington, simply removing a bulb from a lamp on his desk and inserting the plug of a receiving instrument and thereby receiving the broadcasting service.

He explained that the broadcasting station was connected with the lighting circuit through a lamp receiver, and predicted that the new method would relieve much of the travelling radio congestion which has been worrying the government.

To him also is due a recent device by which heart beats can be amplified so that a doctor may make a diagnosis from them while listening at any point in a spacious building. The demonstration of that invention made a great hit with an invited company that included many national legislators, and General Squier remarked:

"Even Congressmen"

"Everybody has a heart, you see—even congressmen."

Without the work of General Squier it would not be possible for the Chicago police to be equipped, as those in outlying districts are today, with radio receivers in the upper pockets of their tunics, so that headquarters can "get" them at any moment and put them on the heels of a criminal while the crime is fresh. Nor would it be possible for 700 wireless phones to be installed in the cabins of the Leviathan, whereby the passengers will be able to converse with the shore all the way across the Atlantic.

And these are only the more popular high spots in the work of the "Edison of the radio." His research has developed results of profound importance in a technical, non-spectacular way, and other nations have recognized his scientific eminence with a number of honors and decorations. He is a fellow of the Physical Society of London and a member of the Royal Institute of Great Britain, a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and, at home, a member of the National Academy of Sciences, a Distinguished Service medalist, and many times a medalist of the Franklin society.

MICH. U. ALUMNI TO MEET BY RADIO

DETROIT, Mich., April 6.—What is described as the largest university alumni assembly in the world's history will take place the night of April 23. Graduates of the University of Michigan, numbering thousands and scattered between the Atlantic ocean and the Rocky mountain will hear again the strains of "The Victrola" and "The Variety" dear to the heart of every Michigan man, played by the university band. They will hear the same college yells that for years have resounded over Perry field and the campus and listen to talks by Coach Pleading H. Year, for 21 years the most striking figure in college football. Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, president of the university, and others.

All Michigan men and women in the prescribed zone will participate in the reunion who are fortunate enough to possess radio-telephone sets. According to word received here many thousands of the graduates will avail themselves of the opportunity and "listen in" either by means of individual receiving sets or gather in groups to hear the voices caught out of the air by larger receiving apparatus.

The reunion will start at 8 p. m. and continue for two hours. The list of speakers includes repre-

Duncan Tells Why Sending Power of Radio Varies

By R. L. DUNCAN
Director Radio Institute of America

Radio waves in the air behave pretty much like waves in the water. Suppose a string is attached to a stone which is plunged in and out of the water, constantly sending out wave lengths—this is just the operation of a radio transmitter during a sending. If the stone is large and more force or pressure is put behind it, the waves will travel outward farther.

Just so with a radio transmitter. If the source of power is greater, the electromagnetic waves will travel a longer distance.

But length of the wave will remain the same. The amount of power of a sending set has nothing to do with the wave length.

Wave lengths depend on the amount of inductance and capacity in the antenna circuit of the set and the frequency with which the alternations take place in the transmitted current. In the transmitting instrument there is an inductance consisting of a spiral coil of heavy copper wire which is variable. By means of this more inductance may be added and the wave length increased.

If the main antenna has too much inductance and the wave length is too long, a condenser of about .001 capacity is placed in series with the antenna circuit to cut down the length.

Wave lengths travel with the speed of light—186,000 miles a second.

The waves may be sent out in one direction, if the antenna is constructed directionally.

Take a large, flat stone and let the largest surface strike the water first. The waves will travel with more volume in one direction.

In radio transmitting the directional aerial is used only when the transmitting stations want to throw the most of their energy in one direction.

Broadcasting stations do not use directional antennas. They want to cover the largest possible area.

FLIERS ARRIVE AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

ST. VINCENT, Cape Verde Islands, April 6.—(By the Associated Press) The Portuguese aviators who are attempting a flight across the Atlantic from Lisbon to Brazil, arrived here safely yesterday afternoon at 5.20 o'clock from Las Palmas Islands. They left Gando bay, near Las Palmas, at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Portuguese aviators, Captains Faradun and Coutinho, left Lisbon in their light hydro airplane at 7 o'clock last Thursday morning. They landed safely the same afternoon at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, having flown a distance of more than 1,000 miles. The second leg of the trans-Atlantic flight, from the Canaries to the Cape Verde Islands, which they successfully accomplished this afternoon, is about the same distance. The third hop, from the Cape Verde Islands to the island of Fernando Noronha, is 1,300 miles and from there to the Brazilian coast at Pernambuco, 1,275.

IN COURT FOR 63RD TIME IN 25 YEARS

HAVERHILL, April 6.—George Whiting, the city's champion district court defendant, appeared in the docket on a drunkenness charge yesterday for the 63rd time in the last 25 years. Whiting's record, which covers two cards in the police index, shows that he has spent nearly eight of the last 15 years in a state and county institutions as a result of his fondness for liquor. Judge Whim sent him to the Bridgewater state farm to add another 12 months to his score. The police say that Whiting's avocations are shoe cutting and gardening.

Representatives of many branches of university activity, as well as of the alumni and the students.

Willie Heston, former All-American halfback and who helped to write American gridiron history will speak for the alumni. Dennis Beck, basketball captain and All-American center last year, Captain Duke Dunne of last year's football team, football Captain-elect Paul Goebel and Regent James O. Morfin are on the program.

NEW DRIVE AGAINST CHURCH OF ROME

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Evangelical Protestant society, 113 Fulton street, it was disclosed yesterday, has been formed "to defend American democracy, against the encroachments of papal Rome," and to "defend and promote evangelical Christianity," the onslaught on the Catholics to include "combating them in a political way along the lines employed by the Anti-Saloon league."

Existence of the organization was revealed when its leaders began to come through the mats, with the space for the signature of the chairman left blank.

ELECTRICIANS AGREE TO WAGE REDUCTION

WORCESTER, April 6.—Members of the electricians' union in Worcester have signed a six months' agreement with the Building Trades Employers' association, accepting a reduction of two and a half cents an hour. Under this new agreement, effective April 1, the electricians are receiving 55 cents an hour.

As the story was told today, the employers recently met the men in a conference and asked them to accept a cut, but did not desire to force them to accept a reduction. The employers further explained that a reduction in wages would help the electrical business.

Following the conference, the electricians held a meeting and voted the reduction of two and a half cents an hour. The electricians' union is the only union affiliated with the building trades in Worcester which has signed an agreement. Efforts are now being made to have the other unions make a voluntary cut and sign agreements.

FOR DISABLED WAR VETERANS

American Legion Not Satisfied With Facilities for Hospitalization

Chairman Sprague Replies to Statement of U. S. Veterans' Bureau

CHICAGO, April 6.—Declaring that the American Legion is not satisfied with the facilities for hospitalization of disabled war veterans and that "the success of the whole system of vocational training still is in the balance," A. A. Sprague, chairman of the legion's rehabilitation committee, today asserted that a recent statement by the United States Veterans' bureau of the work it was doing "conveys impressions that may be misinterpreted or misused."

He said the bureau's statement of the work done, signed by C. H. Forbes, director, was true, but he declared that "no statement should be given out by the veterans' bureau to the general public which would give the impression that the bureau of the government is a 'benefactor' to the sick and disabled ex-service men."

Mr. Sprague's reply declared that while a large amount of money is paid to disabled service men, the "general public must realize that the enlisted personnel of both army and navy incurred themselves against death and accident. In many cases men subtracted one-fourth of their pay for this purpose."

"Of the 30,000 ex-service men now in hospitals, nearly one-third are still in contract institutions," declared Mr. Sprague. "Thousands of mentally disabled men who would have been cured or partially so, with proper care, are still kept in state institutions under conditions which are distressing to all those who believe that they can be cured."

"Thousands of tubercular men have been held back by unsatisfactory treatment. Some, within the last few weeks have been sent back to county poor farms, instead of government hospitals."

"In addition the success of the whole system of vocational training is still in the balance, in spite of immense sums paid out because of lack of proper supervision and coordination."

MANVILLE, R. I., MILL STOPS 1500 LOOMS

MANVILLE, R. I., April 6.—The Manville Co. has stopped for the remainder of the week, 1500. These are in addition to 200 stopped indefinitely last week. The company employs about 1900 persons in the cotton industry, of whom 500 are affected by the stoppage. There has been no labor trouble at this plant. Poor markets are given as the cause of the stoppage. The Manville Co., manufacturer of cotton plush, also stopped a number of looms today on account of business conditions.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF REAR ADMIRAL PEARY

WASHINGTON, April 6.—President and Mrs. Harding, members of the cabinet, and other high government officials, as well as Arctic explorers, joined in tribute to the memory of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary today when a memorial was placed at his grave in Arlington National cemetery by the National Geographic society.

Secretary Denby, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt and Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the Geographic society, were on the program for addresses.

The memorial of white Malma granite, of her father's own design, was unveiled by Mrs. Edward Stafford, who ne Marie Peary, was known as the "Snow baby" because she was born farther north than any other white child.

The memorial consists of a huge oblate spheroid of granite of the earth's shape, resting on a massive base. The symbolic design of the monument was conceived by Admiral Peary during his last illness.

Mrs. Henderson, the only member of Peary's party to accompany him on the last leg of the dash for the pole, was among the honored guests.

Only Movie Sheiks Are Dark, Handsome and Passionate

LLOYD HUGHES

EILEEN CASSIDY

(By JAMES W. DEAN)
NEW YORK, April 6.—Sheiks, dark, handsome, mature, dominating men of deep-rooted passion—according to popular conception engendered by the novel of Edith M. Hull and the Valentino version.

In reality some sheiks are blonde, some are six years old and some wear white beards. Very few of them know how to make love and some of them wouldn't take the second look at a passing maiden.

John Dos Passos throws this bomb into flapper dreamland.

Dos Passos recently returned from the sheik country. He footed, horned and cameled through the hands of Turkey, Persia and Arabia.

"Sheiks are little tribal chieftains," Dos Passos told me. "Some are big ones and some are little ones. Before 1914 the Sultan of Turkey spanked the sheiks and sent them to school. Then they were well-behaved and well-educated. Not now, though."

"They aren't fierce and they're not handsome. They talk mostly of sand, camels and ransoms. Their little hands appear suddenly in the desert and inform the traveler that he cannot pass unless he is a member of the tribe. You become a member by paying a fat initiation fee and then you're allowed to pass."

"The sheiks never discuss women. It is bad form to do so. Marriages are arranged beforehand by parents, so the courtship as we know it does not exist. I never saw anything approximating a love scene. Yet I have read Arabian love poetry. It must be that the emotion of the sheik finds expression in some manner not apparent to the dull occidental eye."

DOS PASSOS

John Dos Passos leaped into fame with his war novel, "Three Soldiers" (Doran). Probably no book of recent years so sharply attacked critics. Heywood Brown was the author's chief proponent; Coningsby Dawson, the chief adversary. The story was about three disgruntled service men who mouthed profane maledictions against the discipline of the American army. This writer was one who believed Dos Passos' brilliant picture was painted in too gaudy colors. He likened Dos Passos to a fire-eating hornedog of his own battery who cursed Newton D. Baker because he had to take baths under compulsion. Yet in the flesh Dos Passos appears as gentle as a 12-year-old horse at the end of a day's hard toll.

D. P. KEITH'S THEATRE

"The Little Production," which Cowan and Bailey, assisted by Estelle Davis, present at the D. P. Keith Theatre this week, is one of the neatest of acts complete in every detail, and filled with glorious music. Cowan and Bailey have written all of their songs, and they are real hits. Another melodious act is that of Cunningham and Bennett, which is called "She's a Great Girl." It is a great act. "A Pair of Calves," with Val Harris & Co. in the big parts is snappy all the way through. Other good points to the bill are: "The Skatelles," Dave Roth, the Three Danolise Sisters and Willie Howard and Brother.

OPERA HOUSE

Miss Anna Layng and Harry Hologsworth, the former the clever character woman, and the latter the popular leading man of the stock company at the Opera House, will hold receptions on the stage immediately after this afternoon's performance. The presentation of "A Mother's Secret" is their last offering of the season. Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, Miss Marguerite Fields and Vincent Dennis, the latter the clever juvenile star of the company, will hold a reception, and on Saturday afternoon the entire company will meet the patrons after the performance. Saturday night will be a party night, at which time there will be speeches by the members and local people. Order your tickets at once.

PINAFORE TO BE GIVEN EASTER MONDAY

The performance of "Pinafore" to be given by Frederick O. Blunt for the Lowell Teachers' organization at the Opera House on the afternoon and evening of Easter Monday, April 17, will be the second of the group of Gilbert and Sullivan revivals presented by that capable producer. Last spring, under similar circumstances, Mr. Blunt staged "The Mikado."

It was about a dozen years ago that Mr. Blunt last produced "Pinafore," the chorus and principals at that time being pupils of the high school. Singing the part of Josephine was Marion Lane, who is again to be heard in the same role.

To those who heard the very excellent performance of "The Mikado" a year ago, it will be interesting to know that Miss Charlotte Walsh and Edward F. Blattery, Jr., are both to be in the "Pinafore" cast. The former is Little Buttercup, and Mr. Blattery will be heard in the part of Sir Joseph Porter.

The chorus singing is sure to be enjoyable. Included in the chorus are a good many of those who sang a year ago and the number has been increased to fifty.

The Gilbert and Sullivan operas are always attractive. Clean, humorous and tuneful, they never tire. This year's revival of "Pinafore," in singing power and attention to detail, will approach a professional production. It is the only thing of its kind to be offered in Lowell this season.

Cosmetics an Enemy to The Ex-Chorus Girls

MISS RUBY NORTON

BY GENE COHN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Rouge, powder, lip-stick—all the cosmetics that help in forming the stage career of a chorus girl become her worst enemy once she gets off-stage and seeks other work.

Take that from A. W. Schroeter, employment expert here.

"Disturbing Influence"

He was asked by an agent of the Chorus Girls' Protective association to analyze the reasons why thousands of chorus girls in the United States are remaining jobless during the period of theatrical depression.

"The chorus girl will not discard, in domestic service, those adjuncts of makeup, those frills and furbelows she has known before the footlights," said

Schroeter, "Hence she becomes a disturbing influence."
And all this leads to the discovery that a national survey is being made in an effort to discover why chorus girls have been turned down in other jobs.

Are Too Pretty

Miss Ruby Norton, vaudeville actress, gathered the statistics in the western section of the country. In her investigation she approached Schroeter for a job. When he found she was an actress he told her, in connection to the cosmetics angle:

"Employment experts try to give people the help they desire. Hence we are backward about sending chorus girls, for fear they may flirt with the male service. Also they don't know how to make their eyes behave and the average chorus girl is too pretty."

won't fall in love. Lots of romances begin in prison."

Warden Plummer, in an address before the Wilmington League of Women Voters, told of having discovered an "underground mail system" in the workhouse.

"Notes were hidden in food, in articles of clothing, or carried by 'trusties,'" he said.

LLOYD GEORGE WINS ANOTHER VICTORY

LONDON, April 6.—(By the Associated Press) Although a number of Laborites and Independent Liberals voted with the "Die Hards," the motion of Sir William Joynson-Hicks censuring the government, which was debated in the house of commons last night, was defeated by a vote of 255 to 95.

"The unionist party meeting," as Joseph Devlin described the discussion of the Die Hards' resolution, attracted a full house. There was much banter throughout the debate, but bitterness was discernible below the surface, between the Die Hards and their unionist colleagues. Joynson-Hicks appealed to the conservative leaders to take command of the conservative party as the country's greatest instrument for political good.

Austen Chamberlain, the government leader, who at an early stage entered the arena, declared that the government was anxious for a vote. He twitted the Die Hards on the delay in introducing the motion, asserting that there was not a single principle contained in the resolution or a single definition of faith. The Die Hards, he declared, were either unable to define their principles or deliberately refrained in order to swell the small section of the conservative party which they might be able to split away from it.

Lord Hugh Cecil violently assailed the government generally and Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain particularly, declaring that their actions and failures were endangering the country's safety. He and Mr. Chamberlain had several sharp tilts, ministerial upbraids drowning some of Lord Hugh's caustic remarks.

To squeeze metal plates together and close a rivet on them a pressure of between 150 and 200 tons is required.

Gang, Who Never Work, and Look for Trouble

LAWRENCE, April 5.—At 3 o'clock this morning more than 40 roughly clad men marched down the principal thoroughfare of Lawrence, where today the textile strike entered upon its eleventh day. As they passed a patrolman on his beat, they glanced at him furtively and then guarded words were passed from lip to lip, as each ineluctably shrugged a shoulder at the officer.

"Are these striking textile workers?" the officer was asked.
"No, I don't think they ever worked in their lives," he replied, "but they give us more trouble than 50 times their number of strikers. Whenever there is a possibility of a fight they are there in large numbers regardless of the issue."

"How do they live?" the officer was asked.

"Oh, some of them are bootleggers and gamblers, others have women relatives working in the mills and still others have some of their war savings left."

As the men passed, one of them began to sing a strange melody. Others picked it up and the song floated back on the night air. They turned up a side street and were lost to eye and ear.

VINCENT ASTOR NAMED GUARDIAN
NEW YORK, April 6.—William Vincent Astor has accepted the guardianship of his nine-year-old half brother, John Jacob Astor, on the application of his mother, Mrs. Madeline Dick, it was revealed yesterday in papers filed with surrogate Foley.

The boy's father, John Jacob Astor, Sr., perished in the Titanic disaster in 1912. The boy has been without legal guardian since last December, when his mother resigned her responsibility. Property in his own name includes a trust fund of $8,000,000 bequeathed him under the will of his father, besides miscellaneous stocks, bonds and mortgaged.

Mr. Astor was required to furnish a bond of $250,000.

FIND TWINS' ESTATE WORTH BUT $8000
CHICAGO, April 6.—First estimates of $200,000 as the value of the estate left by Rosa and Joseph Blazek, the Cascho-Slovak twins, dwindled yesterday to $8000 in American money and a farm of doubtful value in Cascho-Slovakia.

What has become of the remainder of their fortune, accumulated during their 35 years of exhibitions in the leading amusement resorts of Europe and this country, remains a mystery. Their earning capacity, even before the war, averaged $12,000 a year exclusive of their living expenses.

The failure of the twins to leave a will has left the disposition of the estate still unresolved. Frank Blazek, their brother, and other relatives decline to make any comment. Medical opinion regarding the relation of Franz, the 31 year old son of Rosa, to both remains so divided that it seems improbable he will be legally adjudged the sole heir.

The line of curious men and women seeking to view the bodies of the twins, continued unbroken at the understanding parties which have been opened to the public.

REPUBLICANS OF MAINE MEET

Biennial State Convention
Opened at Bangor Auditorium Today

Addresses by U. S. Senator
Willis and Congresswoman
Robertson

BANGOR, Me., April 6.—Maine republicans met in biennial state convention at Bangor Auditorium today to adopt a declaration of principles for the campaign preceding the September election and to hear prominent speakers discuss questions of national and state interest. No nominations were in order, these being made at the June primaries, but candidates for Governor and United States senator were actively pushing their campaign among the delegates.

State, district and county committees were chosen by the various delegations in connection with the convention proceedings, contests developing in sections.

Contest Over Platform
The only prospective contents in the adoption of the platform appeared to be on the wording of the classic concerning preservation and development of the water powers of the state, the gubernatorial candidates not being in agreement as to the form of declaration, and on the inclusion of a plank advocating submission to the voters of the direct primary law for ratification or rejection.

The speakers on the program were Senator Frank R. Willis of Ohio, who was assigned to address the afternoon session, Congressman Alice M. Robertson of Oklahoma and former Attorney General Guy H. Sturgis of Portland, the temporary chairman.

Eulogy by Gen. Sturgis

Mr. Sturgis in his address paid a tribute to the memory of the late Governor Parkhurst whose death occurred last year, only 25 days after his inauguration. Mr. Sturgis commended the state that the gubernatorial responsibilities in this emergency were placed upon the shoulders of Percival P. Baxter, a man of broad legislative experience, he said, and so situated that he could give liberally of his time to the public service.

Mr. Sturgis said the last legislature following the budget system established under Gov. Milliken, used economy and foresight in estimates and appropriations. "Business was applied to government. In this administration, education has been promoted; a reduction and equalization of the burden of taxation has been continued; compensation laws have been liberalized; mothers' aid and children's protection has been extended, and good government and moral welfare have been sustained."

Franklin Administration

Reviewing the record of the national administration, Mr. Sturgis referred to the establishment of the budget system, said there had been an unequalled saving in the expenditures of government and lightening of the burden of taxation and that the friendly aid of the executive and of congress already extended to agriculture has stabilized the price of farm products.

"The farmers of Maine," he continued, "as well as the farmers of the great middle west, I believe, appreciate the friendly spirit of this republican administration and have faith that their interests are in safe and helpful hands."

The limitation of armaments conference was characterized as the crowning achievement of the administration.

With the conclusion of the preliminary business of the convention which included the making of the temporary organization of the permanent organization, and the election of a president and the committee on resolutions which included a woman representative from each county, a recess was taken until after noon.

Changes in the state committee as selected by the county delegations, included Albert L. Kavanagh, Lewiston; Judson C. Briggs, Carleton; Dr. Luther O. Junker, Waterville; William E. White, Rockland; Albert J. Stearns, Norway; E. L. Chase, Hallowville, and Dr. O. S. Vickery, Belfast.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF

LAW, URGED BY WILLIS

BANGOR, Me., April 6.—A protective tariff law must be enacted at the earliest possible moment, if American workmen are to be employed; if American industry is to thrive and American standards are to be maintained, Senator Willis of Ohio, declared in an address today before the republican state convention.

American markets, he said, are being flooded with European made goods of inferior quality at prices which are a fraction of the American labor cost alone.

Senator Willis reviewed the accomplishments of the administration and charged that "bulldozer democrats" had hampered and impeded republicans in their efforts to stabilize conditions. Before many weeks, he said, a protective tariff law based on the principle of Blaine and McKinley would be on the federal statute books.

"The republican party," he said, had checked extravagance, established a budget system, reduced taxes, lopped off appropriations and maintained American ideals. In this record of pledges, he declared, "the administration of President Harding looks to the people of Maine for a vote of confidence and support."

The slogan look better, he said, adding that "even the promise of a republican tariff stimulates industry and starts factories."

"With the early enactment of the tariff and prompt funding of the foreign debt already provided for by law," he continued, "industrial conditions will continue to improve, and under republican policies we shall have peace and prosperity at home as well as honor and prestige abroad."

Every serious international difficulty which threatened a year ago, Senator Willis declared, has either been finally settled or the dispute means provided for its speedy adjustment. All this, he added, has been done without sacrifice of national sovereignty or abatement, "or self-reliance and with fullest justice to the other nations."

"That it is not in the handling of foreign affairs alone," he added, "that the republican party has made a record which merits endorsement at the hands of the people. In domestic affairs it has made more progress toward economy and business methods in eight months than the democratic party in eight years."

MISS ROBERTSON

DELIVERS MESSAGE

BANGOR, Me., April 6.—The message of a woman in politics to the republican voters of Maine was delivered today by Alice Robertson, congressional representative from Oklahoma.

"My Robert on expressed the hope that the pivot of millions of women directly into politics this year might be the first step toward greater zeal and patriotic and 'awakened women to a sense of duty and obligation.'"

"Their joint work," she added, "it is imperative to overcome."

Mr. Robertson and she represented the millions of women voters who were facing "the great duty of enfranchisement and citizenship."

"For younger than I," she continued, "time is measured in years, yet far older in political life and experience, is the senator from Ohio, (Senator Willis). With bewildering suddenness from a quiet life to one of prominence as a member of the House of Representatives my heart here today is typical of the new voter's place in our great party."

"I look back over these months of congressional duty with reverent gratitude that I was the individual from all the millions of new women voters so honored."

Pimples and boils

—caused by errors of diet

A well-known skin specialist says that pimples are "signal flags of danger" often indicating errors in diet.

Indeed pimples are so frequently associated with faulty habits of eating and improper digestion that the first thing to do is to see that our food is right.

Fresh yeast is a wonderful corrective food for these skin disorders. Fleischmann's Yeast is rich in the elements which improve appetite and digestion and which keep the intestines clean of poisons.

Physicians and hospitals all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast for pimples and boils. It gets right at the basic cause of these complaints.

Eat 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals to keep your skin healthy. Secure it in Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

SAUNDERS MARKET OPEN

Lively Scene in Gorham Street—First Purchaser Gets $5 Gold Piece

Saunders' Public Market, at 155-161 Gorham street, opened its doors at 8 o'clock this morning, and the first purchaser, Mrs. Fred Martin, of 77 Gorham street, was awarded a $5 gold piece by the management, in accordance with the statement contained in the advertisement published in the Sun yesterday. Mrs. Martin had many competitors for the $5 prize, but she managed to hold first place, despite the fact that the rush was a la foot-ball. The street was lined with men and women anxious to get first place.

T. VON RYDINGSWARD

If possible, it was a merry scramble. From 8 o'clock until 9 last night, during which hours the store was open for public inspection, there was a steady stream of people from Lowell and suburban towns passing through the various departments. An orchestra furnished music and great interest was displayed. The managers of the various departments were on hand and it was the general opinion that the Saunders' Public Market company was destined for a most successful place in Lowell's market history.

It is now in the hands of a firm which was in large measure responsible for the success of one of the best public markets in all of New England, harrington, and that was the Brockton Public Market. Ask any man who is in the wholesale business about the Brockton Public Market and he will tell you at once that it stands at the very pinnacle for volume of business done on a given investment.

Sound business principles are at the back of it, and have been for years. J. E. Morrow was treasurer of the Brockton Public Market, and he is president and treasurer of Saunders' Public Market. That is guarantee that one of the mainstays of the Brockton Public Market is now at the helm of affairs at the new Saunders' market. Mr. Morrow is a live wire, a thorough-going business man in every respect, and he has thousands of personal friends in Brockton who regret his departure from that city. Lowell has gained a lot in the coming here of Mr. Morrow.

Like good business men, Mr. Morrow has surrounded himself with most capable assistants. There is John Farr, the assistant treasurer and clerk of the company, who was for seven years in a most responsible position in the Brockton Public Market; and there is George Maxin, the manager of the local market, who was with the Brockton Public Market and later managed its Portland branch.

A. L. Binder is manager and buyer for the grocery department. For 14 years he has been with the Custer Grocery Co. of Boston and later was floor superintendent of the Brockton Public Market.

T. von Rydingsward will be the superintendent of the meat department and also the buyer. For six years he was superintendent for Cobb, Bates & Yerxa Co. in Salem, and was later with the Brockton Public Market. He has also been a lecturer on beef at the Essex County Agricultural college at Haverhill.

John A. McQuade will have direct charge of and the buyer of fruits, fish and vegetables for the store. These departments will be under his direct supervision. He is especially well known in Lowell and the suburban towns, for he has catered to the wants of thousands of customers in the past. He is a live wire of tireless energy.

FOUR ARRESTED ON CAPIASES

In connection with the Mason-Muldon case of alleged larceny of cigars and other articles from the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad companies, Status Varmanus, alias Nicholas Anastasiadis, alias Nicholas Chapius and Constant Douglas, alias Constant Douglas, were arrested on capias issued by the court yesterday afternoon and will be held pending trial. The reason for taking these men into custody after being released on bail is said to be the disappearance of one of the most important witnesses, and precautions are being taken that no one shall escape. Three of the men are held in connection with the theft of cigars and the other relative to the theft of stolen from the railroad.

COMMISSION APPROVES BILLS

At a meeting of the high school building commission on Tuesday of this week, the following bills were approved for payment this month: Daniel H. Walker, general contractor, $24,456.21; Henry J. Courte, architect, $10,000; Richard D. Kimball Co., $172.19; Middlesex Registry of Deeds, $1.06.

Joseph Pennell Would Wipe Out All Billboards

(BY JOSEPH PENNELL)

World-Famous American Artist, Illustrator and Author in an interview with Edward M. Thierry for N.E.A.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Billboards are a national blot. Every billboard in the United States ought to be abolished. They steal the beauty of country and town. They are built by vulgar money grabbers to appeal to the illiterate. They are abominations that debauch the country—a positive proof of America's degeneracy.

Why should we have to look at mammoth eye-sores that tell us what to eat and drink and smoke and chew? Newspapers are the place for advertisements. If you don't want to look at them you don't have to. But the billboards glare at you, defacing the cities and defiling the country.

Great advertisers who use the newspapers don't use billboards.

Every spot of beauty in the country is fouled by some gigantic sign devoted to pills and puffs. Even the churches would save you by them.

The bill stickers can't make them artistic. They can't get a decent artist scarcely to work on them. I know an artist who was said to have turned down an offer of $10,000 rather than have his art reduced to such filth. Billboards don't appeal to intelligent people, but only to illiterate ones. America is being flooded with the rubbish of Europe and this form of fool advertising is dedicated to them.

Cowardice of the billboarders, who could ston the billboard disgrace if they wanted to, and the internal ignorance of the people appealed to are to blame. We have plenty of laws to stop them, but the laws are not enforced. No law is enforced in this country if anybody can make some money by breaking it.

They stopped them in England, where it is illegal to put up any billboard which obscures the landscape. In cities it is illegal to put up a billboard that is a silhouette against the sky. And it is illegal to throw an illuminated sign in the sky as they are now talking of doing here. These laws mean that all billboards are illegal.

If there must be outdoor advertising let them use small posters on busses that do not stand still and obliterate scenery, or kiosks for posters, as in France.

Billboard men themselves admit billboards are only one per cent of all advertising. Well, if it's so small as that, it wouldn't be much loss to the bill stickers if billboards were torn down. Motion signs are all over the country. The waste of lumber and electric light on Broadway proves we are idiotic children. Chicago had its blot in a huge "Boost Chicago" sign at the entrance to the new bridge leading to a chewing gum factory. Near Grant's tomb the streets are full of defacements. The beautiful horseshoe curve near Altoona has a billboard monstrosity, "Welcome to Our City."

What we need is a cabinet department to regulate these things—a minister of fine arts who could rescue a country now going to ruin.

To get rid of billboards (tax them out of existence. Tax the farmer who rents his barn, the landowner who permits a sign to be erected, the billboard man who puts up the bill, and the goods that are advertised. And make the taxes so high that they will wreck the billboard.

YOUNG MAN STOLE HORSE AND JUNK WAGON

Lowell police are hot on the trail of the young man who stole a horse and junk wagon from Hall street Tuesday morning, and who was seen to drive it in the general direction of Nashua. The police of surrounding cities and towns have been notified. The team has not yet been recovered.

The outfit belongs to one Goldman, a junk dealer of this city. The horse is described as a black one with a white mark on the forehead. The wagon is painted blue and has the license number 28 painted on the sides.

KILLING OF LT. COL. BECK SHOCK TO COMRADES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 6.—The killing of Lieut. Col. Paul Ward Beck, assistant commander of Post Field, came as a shock to officers and enlisted men here who were comrades of the daring aviator.

Both officers and men made it plain today that they found it hard to believe the charges against Lieut. Col. Beck.

"Lieut. Col. Beck was one of the finest soldiers I have ever come into contact with," said Brig. Gen. Hinder, commander of Post Field, "and as far as I know his character has always been above reproach."

Major J. B. Paddock, a relative of Gen. John J. Pershing, who accompanied Lieut. Col. Beck on his trip to Oklahoma City, last Monday and was a member of the party at the day home there, declared Beck was never a coward.

"Just why the statement is made that he hid behind such a flimsy thing as a curtain, is beyond me," Major Paddock said.

"At no time during our stay in the day home, was any liquor served to our party," Major Paddock declared.

Irish Republicans Mass on Border

BELFAST, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Republican forces are reported to have been concentrated on the section of the Ulster frontier between counties Leitrim and Fermanagh. Early today, one constable was reported missing and three wounded from a patrol near Belcoo, close to the border, and forces of police were rushed to the scene from Eniskillen in motor trucks.

War On Ulster Goods Continues

DUNDALK, April 6.—The war on goods made in Ulster continues. A number of armed men visited the railroad depots here this morning, held up the officials and ransacked and destroyed 16 wagon loads of merchandise. All the newspapers from Belfast again were seized and burned.

of mails. He has found that the employees are very much handicapped in their work by the lack of room and that they have absolutely no comfort during their hours of rest.

There has been some talk of a new postoffice building for Lowell, but it seems that at present there is no prospect for an appropriation to provide it, and even such an appropriation were secured it would be several years before the treasury department could get right down to the business of erecting a new building.

This matter was thoroughly discussed at a conference between the congressman and the acting postmaster a few days ago and they have come to the conclusion that the only remedy for immediate relief is to decentralize the work of the postoffice throughout the city and relieve the main building of its present congestion.

A postal station in Centralville would serve about 30,000 people. The intention of the acting postmaster is to assign 12 or 13 of the regular carriers to that district to be stationed at the new office and would cover the entire territory across the Merrimack river, including the rural routes to Dracut.

According to plans, mail from the railroad station would be taken to the main building for a preliminary sorting and then would be taken to the Centralville office in automobile trucks. There it would be sorted by the different carriers by routes. The outgoing mail would be placed in mail sacks at the Centralville office, the postage cancelled and then forwarded direct to the railroad station.

The Centralville station would be known as Station No. 2, and would be similar to the office in Middle street, but on a much larger scale. The men who are now carrying mail in the Centralville district would remain on the job and no new appointments would be needed to carry out the work. Some of the clerks in the main building would be transferred to the new office, so that as far as the help is concerned the Centralville office would not entail more expense to the government.

So congested is the Gorham street building, that most of the parcel post business is now being handled in the basement of the structure, which is not a very comfortable place to work in. In the basement also is a recreation room for the men, but it is inadequate at the present time.

Congressman Rogers is very much interested in the plan and he feels confident that he will succeed in obtaining an appropriation. The government will not be called upon to erect a new building, but if the matter is approved, a large store centrally located in the district, will be leased and equipped at once for the carrying out of Uncle Sam's postal business in Centralville.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

Treasurer Greene of the Pacific mills of Lawrence made a statement a few days ago for the information of the striking employees, giving his reasons for the proposed cut-down and stressing especially the dull market, shorter hours of labor and the higher wages paid here than in the mills of the south, with which the New England mills have to compete.

It may be said of Mr. Greene that he is the only mill treasurer who made any earnest attempt to explain fully just why a wage cut at this time is considered an absolute necessity. He said he felt it due to the employees to get such an explanation for the reason that they could not have confidence in the management if they believed it guilty of duplicity or indifference. For this reason he welcomed the fullest publicity.

President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers has replied to Mr. Greene's statement in a most courteous and conciliatory manner, stating that nothing stands in the way of a harmonious settlement if Mr. Greene is willing to enter into any form of arbitration with his employees. President McMahon puts the issue in a very moderate form; and it is hoped that Treasurer Greene will see the wisdom of submitting the whole question to arbitration inasmuch as the strikers have no desire to be unfair towards their employers, but they do feel that it is a grave mistake on the part of any textile manufacturing company to endeavor to bring conditions in New England down to a level of those existing in the south. Rather should the effort be to raise the textile industry in the south to the level of that of other parts of the country. It is plain that when any comparison is instituted between the operations of New England and those of the south, that while wages may be lower and hours of labor longer in the south, such a condition is only what might be expected and that it should not outweigh the greater skill and productive capacity of the New England operatives.

The one thing greatly to be regretted in connection with this mill strike is, that there is no government authority invested with the power to interfere and bring the parties together for a conference and general discussion of all the issues involved. From the very beginning, it would seem that a settlement satisfactory to both sides was feasible, if only the existing misunderstandings were removed. The loss entailed by the prolonged struggle and the feeling of resentment that will remain long after the strike, will more than outweigh what might be conceded by way of compromise on the part of the mills in order to secure industrial peace and that feeling of confidence in the mill management which is evidently highly appreciated by Treasurer Greene.

SIMS AND BENSON

Editor Sun: Will you please inform me why Admiral Sims' name is on the front of the Memorial Auditorium and Admiral Benson's does not appear? There are a good many people in this city who think Benson's name should be there instead of that of Sims because they believe he is an able man and a better American.

An explanation in your paper will oblige.

Yours truly,

J. M. C.

In reply to the above communication, we may say that had President Wilson shown better judgment by appointing Admiral Benson instead of Admiral Sims to take charge of the American naval forces overseas during the war, then Benson's name and not that of Sims, would have been inscribed on the facade of the Memorial Auditorium. The name of General Pershing appears among the list of distinguished generals, because he was in charge of our military forces in France, although, doubtless, generals as able, as patriots and as brave were held at home.

Thus the architect of the commission in selecting the names of Pershing and Sims because they had charge of our military and naval forces in the war, followed the usual custom in such cases. It was in accordance with the same rule that the name of Admiral Sampson was chosen instead of that of Admiral Schley, although the latter was in the battle of Santiago harbor and Sampson, the admiral in command, was not. If any other rule were followed, however, the number of eligible names would be so great that they could not be used on the space available. If there was discrimination against Admiral Benson in any quarter or at any time, it was shown by President Wilson in not selecting him for service overseas.

WHERE WE LEAD

Statistics issued by the census bureau showing the percentage of deaths from typhoid fever in the registration area in 1920, prove that Massachusetts stands out prominently on the low end in the country except Wisconsin, in which the rate is the same as ours. But if several years are taken into account, our state stands first in the smallest death rate from this disease. Thus, for 1920 and the four previous years, the number of deaths per 100,000 population are 2.5, 2.7, 4.1, 4.5, 4.7. For the same years the rates for Wisconsin are: 2.5, 2.1, 3.8, 5.2, 7.0. Rhode Island comes next with these rates: 2.8, 3.2, 5.7, 5.8, 7.2.

It is noteworthy to find that in some states, chiefly in the south, the rates are about eight times as high as in Massachusetts. These figures prove that our health authorities are very successful in protecting the people against impure drinking water, which is the main source of typhoid infection, although dirty dairies and uncleanly milken are also a source of danger, but against these also the health authorities are ever on their guard.

No city in the state has a purer water supply than Lowell. The driven wells are expensive in the amount of pumping entailed, the filtering process of removing the iron and other mineral solutions from the water; but on the whole, it is worth all it costs to have a constant supply of pure drinking water in every part of the city.

The water supply of Lowell is unsurpassed by any in the United States.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

Speaking in Boston last week, Captain Imbosc, manager of the Charlestown Navy Yard, pointed out what would happen should the naval appropriation be inadequate to maintain the yard. Boston navy yard turns out the entire supply of rope, and most of the chain used in the navy. Should the yard be closed, the government would have to go into the commercial field for its rope and chain, he said. Eight thousand civilian employees of the yard would be out of work. There would have to be found some other place to store the historic frigates now stationed there. And worst of all, New England would be barren of a naval base of consequence, the only two remaining naval organizations being the Newport, R. I., training station and the Portsmouth yard, both of which probably would be scrapped before the headquarters of the naval district at Boston would be eliminated.

Captain Imbosc said consideration of this contingency was not mere idle speculation, for should naval appropriations be made too low, many navy yards and stations certainly would have to be closed for lack of maintenance. And, he pointed out, were Charlestown yard to be closed, all New England would be left wide open to the mercy of whatever nation happened to have a few serviceable warships and a prodigious arsenal.

Under the terms of the treaty, we shall have a navy entirely small enough. False economy is the proper term by which to characterize the proposed slash to a personnel of only 65,000. Even if we do have a small navy, let us have enough men to man it. Slash appropriations elsewhere if necessary, but at least let us have sufficient men to man what we may be "entitled to" in the way of a navy, after the treaty experts finish their task. Let us hope that one of the amendments will be accepted, to save the day at least temporarily.

CHURCH FIRE FIEND

The pyromaniac who poses as an electrician and enters churches and other institutions to cross wires so as to start fires, is the latest development in criminal progress. There is now very tangible proof that such a character has been responsible for the fire that destroyed the magnificent basilica at the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre and the church of the Sacred Heart at Montreal.

That anti-Catholic hatred is the motive is indicated by the fact that only Catholic churches have been destroyed in this manner. The fact that one of the firemen while fighting the flames that destroyed the Sacred Heart church, heard a man remark that "St. Delight's would be next" and that several instances had been found in which he had arranged crossed wires to cause fire, leaves little doubt as to the real cause of the fires that destroyed the two magnificent edifices mentioned.

It is to be hoped the Montreal police will be successful in finding the culprit and that unless he is mentally irresponsible he will be brought to justice. The fire fiend that applies a knowledge of electricity in his nefarious work is certainly a most serious menace to any community.

COAL PROBLEMS

The miner, for digging coal out of the earth, gets only a fraction of what he paid by the consumer who buys the coal.

Railroads collect freight charges averaging $2.47 a ton, for hauling the coal from mine to market, according to the National Coal association.

The coal jobber, who serves as a go-between or purchasing agent, takes an average of 15 to 25 cents a ton.

Then the retailer has his "overhead" or fixed charges—rent, office help, unloading from car, making deliveries, etc. This overhead varies probably from 50 cents up to $2 a ton.

The distribution of commodities is intricate, unscrupulous and costly. It is a penalty of civilization, a wide gap separating producer from consumer, but it is there and is one of the dominating factors in the coal strike.

TINKHAM'S CHARGES

Congressman Tinkham has shown considerable courage in his attack upon the anti-saloon league. If the league has been violating the corrupt practices act, as he alleges, it is not right that it should be called to account and exposed. While the aims of the league have doubtless been entirely worthy, it is not so certain that its methods have been equally honorable.

Wages are tumbling but rents are fixed.

Efficient management might serve instead of wage cuts until values are stabilized.

The spring clean-up is on and it should reach all the nooks and corners.

If only a railroad strike would come now, we should have the conditions which some people seem to want.

SEEN AND HEARD

There may be a limit to the radio range, but not to the radio rage.

Isn't it about time for the annual discovery of a building trust?

"Bob" Manning is willing to bet that on the first day of baseball 15,000,000 grandmothers will be buried.

Another world war in 2014 is predicted. Congress had better start on the bonus bill now.

The man writing a book on hades probably got his idea from sleeping in an upper Pullman berth.

Thought For Today

No man perhaps suspects how large and important the region of the unconscious in him is; what a vast unknown territory lies there back of his conscious will and purpose and which is really the controlling power of his life.—John Burroughs.

A Word A Day

Today's word is Exhilarate. It's pronounced—eg-zill-a-rayt, with accent on the second syllable. It means—to make jolly, to make glad, to enliven, to animate, to cheer. It comes from Latin "exhilarare," to make merry. Companion words—exhilaration, exhilarative. It's used like this: "The sun of spring days exhilarates even the most unresponsive of us."

Some Boy, Johnny

In an east end of London a school mistress was reading to her class Shelley's "Ode to a Skylark." To test the intelligence of her scholars she asked if they could put into different words, expressing the same meaning, the line, "Hail to thee, blithe spirit, bird thou never wert." An avon shot up from the back row. "Well, Johnny, let us hear how you would put it." "Oh, cocky. You ain't no blinkin' bird."

Trusting to Providence

In a certain mining district of Scotland it is the custom of the miners to have a "bit draw of the pipe" before going down and after coming up from the shaft. For this purpose the pitmen often borrow tobacco from one another, but one of these concocted a scheme by which he appeared unable to lend. He kept two tobacco boxes, one of which was always empty. This he named "The World." The other, which was often full, he called "Providence." When asked for a "pipit," he would reply, "I haven't a bit in 'The World.' What are ye gaein ta do for a smoke, then?" was generally the next query. "Trust in 'Providence,'" he called. Trust to 'Providence' for it hardly ever fails."

Take All That Cabin

Another very curious propensity of the wolverine is its habit of stealing and carrying away articles, which can be of no possible use to it, says the American Forestry Magazine. An instance is recorded where these animals removed and concealed the whole paraphernalia of an unoccupied hunter's lodge, including such articles, as kettles, axes, knives, cooking vessels and blankets. Experienced hunters and trappers claim that a big wolverine may weigh as much as sixty pounds, but that fifty pounds is the more usual weight. They are very tenacious of life, and instances are on record where the animal has been shot through and through the chest and not succumbed to the wound. In such cases, of course, the heart is not penetrated.

Or Anyway You Like

In Nonsensical Land the trees are blue for red or any other hue. That happens to appeal to you. And all the scenery is grand; The mountains stand upon their peaks And stay that way for weeks and weeks. While rivers, streams and brooks and creeks Run up the hills in Nonsensical Land.

In Nonsensical Land the birds are queer. They shun the airy atmosphere. And here and there, and there and here.

They burrow holes in desert sand; The Godwin bird, the Spotted Glim, The Wildnick and the Suedelm. Wear wooden hose on either limb And live on Whoof, in Nonsensical Land.

Then there are animals which range From Pindos to the Pantoda strange. They all have needles and the mange, and are under every kind of change. When you remember that they live On quidde pounded through a sieve Which has a flavor fugitive But loses vigor when it's canned.

In Nonsensical Land is wealth immense. For though of course they have no cents The dollars grow with speed intense And from this sprout on every hand. But all the cash is counterfeit So no one ever uses it. Which seems particularly fit To those who live in Nonsensical Land.

In Nonsensical Land love takes its course. Beginning often with divorce. And then comes marriage, then perforce Comes courtship last—for thus it's planned: There's wisdom in the chief of crimes And men are jailed for it, at times. And hardy with naught but foolish rhyme (Such rhymes as this) in Nonsensical Land!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

While the rest of us brood over economic problems, light-hearted independent artists exhibit their paintings in New York. They call themselves psycho-plasticists and explain:

"The art of the invisible is an ultra-dimensional, temporal-spatial art, appealing not to separate sense organs but to the residue of undifferentiated sensitivity, that is to say, their art is synaesthetic."

Cosh! And some of us call the problem of raising money for the handicapped complicated! What if we had to add an understanding and application of psycho-plastic art to our burden?

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, in combination with the American War Mothers and other organizations, will stage the nation-wide sale of Memorial poppies the week before Memorial day, and will urge the wearing of the Poppies flower in honor of those who died in France. Committees are being formed in each state to handle the distribution and sale of the poppies. All money received to go to a service and relief work of the organization. Particulars may be secured from the national headquarters, 32 Union square, New York. In this connection the following verses on the poppy will be of interest:

Christ looked down upon the conflict. In the war's most tragic hour, He saw the sight of blood-drenched wheat fields. Planted there a blood red flower.

Grew it where the dead had fallen. Willed it where the dying lay. So the world would still remember When the war clouds cleared away.

Through the charging armies crushed it. Straightaway it would grow again. 'Tis a sad world's blood-hued token Of the sacrifice of men.

Where it grows some soldier's life-blood. Here it spilled upon the ground; And it dips and waves and tosses Over every cross-marked mound.

It is Christ's and it is yours. It is all the world's and mine. For it typifies the blood shed On the whole world's fighting line.

Take it, keep it, and protect it. If you crush it, it will bleed; For the crimson Poppies poppy Was a man's blood in the seed.

THE LOWELL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BULLETIN

The Lowell Chamber of Commerce Bulletin for April marks a notable improvement by the organization in that it is the first issue to appear in printed form. Heretofore bulletins have been published monthly, but have been mimeographed, and the new departure contains in its four pages a wealth of material which it would have been extremely difficult to include in former issues.

Among the many interesting editorials, news items, committee reports and articles, the bulletin has a place of honor to a splendid discourse on Lowell's latest and most notable building enterprise, the Memorial Auditorium, described by the Bulletin as the "Tribute of a Grateful City to Our War Veterans—About the First and Best in the U. S."

In this article, which is headed by an excellent view of the auditorium, showing the main entrance and the river alongside, the history of the structure is reviewed from January, 1917, when Mr. John A. Hunnewell, manager of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., evolved plans for a public memorial, and presented a memorandum outlining his proposition to the board of directors of the old board of trade, now the chamber of commerce. The next step, according to the Bulletin, was taken at a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trade, which comprised James C. Reilly, president, Arthur T. Safford, John A. Hunnewell, Robert F. Marden and John H. Murphy, when Mr. Hunnewell "brought forth plans which were fully discussed, relative to a public hall which would serve, first, as a memorial to those enlisted men who took part in the great war, and secondly, the local necessity for a public hall."

A committee was then appointed to consider the advisability of constructing such a memorial, and the following members were charged with the duty: Arthur T. Safford, chairman; John A. Hunnewell, Robert F. Marden, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph.D., Joseph A. Legare, Stanley E. Qua, Otto Hoekmeyer, John H. Harrington and Mayor Perry D. Thompson.

The Bulletin comments on the labor and thought given the project by the committee, saying they were all men who gave freely of their time and as much thought and labor as they would in building a $10,000,000 mill.

Commentary remarks follow in which it is said that Lowell became through the committee's activities, the pioneer city of the country in establishing such memorials, with the idea spreading throughout the country, although a man who has recently visited every state in the Union said that our Lowell auditorium is about the finest of its kind and the first completed.

The committee, according to the Bulletin, found that Mr. Hunnewell's idea of having a large auditorium with smaller halls containing suitable memorials prevailed, and that at a meeting on Dec. 8, 1918, a resolution drawn up by Mr. Hunnewell was unanimously adopted, by the provisions of which there should be erected the present Memorial Auditorium, dedicated to the memory of our war veterans.

GOING!

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

John Barleycorn is sinking. One foot is in the grave; Though people still are drinking The alcohol they crave. The stuff is getting rarer And scantier—and worse— Until we drink in terror With visions of a hearse.

John Barleycorn is weaker. Less potent is his thrall. Though the earnest seeker Can still get alcohol; Although bootleggers flourish Upon their profits fat You can't forever nourish John Barleycorn on that.

John's devotees diminish As John's good hooch runs out. He's getting near his finish There isn't any doubt; He won't be perished wholly For quiting a while, I guess, He's dying very slowly. But dying, none the less!

cated to Lowell men and women who served in the great war, a public building containing a hall capable of seating at least 5000 people, equipped with a grand organ, with suitable tablets to bear the names of Lowell men who served in the war, and a hall of records and trophies of war. The resolution was adopted by the directors of the board of trade on Dec. 10, 1918. Proper methods of procedure were placed in the care of a committee of three, J. A. Hunnewell, Stanley E. Qua and John H. Harrington.

This sub-committee drew up plans which were finally enacted and a petition for the enactment of the necessary legislation was signed by the president, James C. Reilly, on authority given him by the directors, and the committee was continued until the bill was passed in the legislature. The petition was also signed by the mayor and city commissioners. The campaign carried out to ensure the passage of the bill in the legislature is described at length, with its successful termination. The municipal finance committee made all necessary changes in the bill and it was passed with little or no further alterations.

Following the passage of the bill the Memorial Auditorium commission was appointed by the mayor as follows: John H. Harrington, chairman; Clarence H. Nelson, Walter L. Parker and Arthur L. Eno. This committee will remain in power until the building is turned over to the city.

The cost of the building is estimated at $1,000,000 by the commission, in direct compliance with Mr. Hunnewell's original proposition. The committee has exercised great care to keep within its appropriation. The Bulletin says, incidentally, that it is one of the very few municipal commissions appointed for big jobs which has accomplished its task within its appropriation, and with all bills paid, as will be the case, it is said, when the structure is relinquished by the commission at its dedication. The Bulletin remarks further on the deep sense of gratification which must be felt at the moment of dedication by those men in the old board of trade, now the chamber of commerce, who proposed the auditorium and gave their time and effort generously to see the project all the way through.

The building, today, says the new Bulletin, fulfills all the original ideas with a seating capacity of 4500 in the main hall.

The work of Messrs. Hunnewell and Harrington from the institution of the undertaking until the present time is commented upon enthusiastically.

BUSINESS TIPS

BY ALBERT APPLE

As the coal strike starts, the nation has about 65,000,000 tons of bituminous above ground and in storage. That is enough to supply the country for at least two months, at present rate of consumption, which coal jobbers estimate at 7,000,000 tons a week.

In the final week of the bituminous miners' strike of 1919, open-shop mines produced 5,811,000 tons of coal. The strategy of the union miners will center on unionizing the open-shop mines. Anthracite highly unionized. Strike stops production.

Freight Traffic

Railroads are moving about 80 cars of freight a week for each 70 cars during the corresponding weeks of 1919. The gain is at least 100,000 cars a week. Half of the gain is due to heavy coal movement, stocking against strike.

More Steel Gains

Plants of the United States Steel corporation are running average of 70 per cent. capacity. Trade rumor is that the corporation in first two weeks of March booked orders 5 per cent. in excess of capacity.

Fuel Oil

Oil men who are expecting a sudden pick-up in the fuel oil market, as a result of the coal situation, are apt to be disappointed. Fuel oil stocks are burdensomely big.

General oil outlook is better. Some of the pipe line companies in the mid-continent field, which furnishes the bulk of the gasoline, are offering inducements to contract crude oil runs for balance of the year.

Prices Up

Average wholesale prices advanced three per cent. in February, reports the federal reserve board. This brought the average to 44 per cent. above 1913 average, against 56 per cent. in February a year ago and 39 per cent. in December, the low point. The upswing is a natural result of growing confidence and stimulated buying in primary markets.

Psychology

Coal brokers expect no material increase in bituminous prices during April. If a runaway market develops, it probably will be due to an epidemic of fear, a stampede.

General business, after being dominated by uncontrollable deflation for a long time, now depends largely on national psychology. Business will go up or down during the spring and summer, according to the degree of confidence among the people and their industrial leaders.

An odorless powder is being manufactured by a German company which, it is claimed, will render wool moth-proof.

MONTHS OF SUFFERING

How a Baltimore Girl Recovered Her Health

Baltimore, Maryland.—"For several months I suffered with severe backache and general weakness. I could not sleep comfortably at night for pains in my back. I found your book at home one day and after reading it began at once to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very good results and some of my girl friends are taking it now. You may use this letter to help other girls, as the letters in your book helped me." — ROSE WARDER, 3013 Roseland Place, Baltimore, Md.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well. Just plain statements, but they want other women to be helped.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and no ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. It has helped many women. Why not try it?

Results in Half the Usual Time!

The reason Ironized Yeast brings such amazing results is because it not only contains just the right amount of all three essential vitamins, but in addition contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary "yeast tablets."

Not even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been treated—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly!

Unrest Among Women Due To Wrong Job, Says She

MRS. GEORGE BURDETT FORD

By RUTH ABLEMAN

NEW YORK, April 6.—More than 50 per cent of the married women who were employed before marriage were doing work in which they were not interested.

This startling information comes as the result of a questionnaire sent to several thousand married women by Mrs. George Burdett Ford, prominent New York club woman, who will make a complete report on the questionnaire at the national convention of the Y.W.C.A. at Hot Springs, April 20 to 27.

Mrs. Ford, herself a Smith college graduate, believes much unrest among women is due to girls' easy acceptance of the first job which presents itself at the completion of their school work and their equal willingness to drop that job with a third the moment marriage becomes a possibility.

Early Work Means Much

"Girls must be brought to a realization of what their early work and their attitude toward it can mean to them after they establish homes of their own," says Mrs. Ford.

"The youngsters who are now in training should be brought to see that their outside job is not a thing to be dropped at the altar; that even if they do not keep on professionally, a kindred interest should carry over their early married years so that something, if nothing more than a point of view, will endure to save their later leisure from emptiness, fatty degeneration, middle age and other ills which hinder those years from being the better half of life.

WILL RETAIN ITS PRESENT QUARTERS

For the present, at least, the license commission will remain in its present quarters on the second floor of the police station building. Acting on a request of the Lowell Bar association attempts were made to find other rooms for the commission so as to allow court expansion on the second floor of the building, but no suitable quarters have been located so far by Supt. of Buildings Francis A. Connor.

Eight Months of Nervous Misery

Mrs. Adams Tells how Less Than One Bottle of Sanalt Ended the Nervousness by Removing the Cause.

"I had been suffering terribly from nervousness for more than eight months. It was caused by bad condition of my stomach, which came so gradually that I almost before I realized it I was suffering from intense headaches and spells of dizziness that were simply terrible. My kidneys and liver were both badly affected and I suffered intensely from backache. Thus says Mrs. Carl Adams, whose home is at 456 Main St., Gardner, Mass. She adds:

"I have not yet finished my first bottle of Sanalt, but it has wonderfully improved my condition. The nervousness has almost gone, my stomach has been greatly helped, kidneys and liver are acting much better, and already I am convinced that Sanalt is true to name as 'Sanalt the Sensitive Tonic.'"

"I purchased Sanalt through the recommendation of Druggist Leathe, of Gardner, who said that if I was not satisfied with results he would return my money."

Sanalt has been used by the physicians of New England for nearly a hundred years. Most reconstructive tonics are constipating. Sanalt regulates blood, bowels, stomach and liver all at the same time.

Enterprising druggists all sell Sanalt.

RECOVERY BY UNITED STATES

Sen. Lodge Points Out Signs of Recovery From the Wounds of War

Urges United New England in Effort to Remove Rate Differentials

BOSTON, April 6.—Soaring prices of Liberty bonds, and the fact that in two years the public debt has been reduced by three and a half billion dollars prove that the United States is rapidly recovering from the wounds of the war, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge declared last night at the annual dinner of the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce at the Copley-Plaza hotel.

"A nation that has paid out in two years more than the sum—three billion dollars—that represented the total national debt of the United States at the close of the Civil war, is a pretty solvent nation," Senator Lodge said.

"This, too, when we are still so close to the great conclusion of the war," in addition to the address of Senator Lodge, who sketched briefly the results of the Washington conference, a special discussion of the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence waterway and power project was presented at the dinner.

Urging co-operation between Massachusetts and the other New England states in the effort to remove rate differentials which, he said, discriminated against New England ports Senator Lodge declared there had been little of such united effort in the past.

"I am no admirer of sectional groups or 'blobs,'" he said, "but I do think it the duty of every portion of the country to see that it receives equality of treatment in all things that are controlled by government or laws. The great empire state of New York has almost identically the same interests as in New England—great industrial communities, dense populations and dependence for its prosperity largely on the business that passes through the state. New York has 43 members of congress and two senators. New England has 32 members of congress and 12 senators. I merely mention these figures to show that the two would make a pretty formidable group if put together."

As evidences of a return to normalcy in the country's business, Senator Lodge cited, in addition to higher bond prices and decreased public debt, a 13 per cent drop in the cost of living in the past year, and at the same time an advance in the products of the farm and of the great western agricultural regions.

"This may seem an anomaly," he said, "but it is merely that we are getting back to a normal level, getting rid of the enormous cost of distribution and reaching a sound level of production and consumption. Other things will help in that same direction. I am not prepared now to make a tariff speech on the advantages of protection because I don't know just what is in the tariff, but I hope it will be reported this week."

Of the results of the Washington conference, Senator Lodge said that they would, in his judgment, tend to make world conditions more stable, in business as in other directions. Summarizing the work of the conference he concluded:

"I am far from saying that it is a final work that has been accomplished—that there will be no more wars—but it is a concrete substantial achievement."

"I have always believed that more could be done by the United States, free and untrammelled as she is, for the peace of the world and the welfare of mankind than by any other country. The United States is the one great obstacle to a return to chaos. And the United States has not failed. She has taken the lead in this great work of peace. Future times will number as one of her great achievements the fact that she took the lead and that she made this beginning, rendered this great service to promote the peace of the world and the greater happiness of humanity."

HOUSE PASSES ALIEN BOOTLEGGER BILL

WASHINGTON, April 6.—By a vote of more than three to one, the house yesterday passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing the deportation of aliens convicted in state or federal courts on charges of having violated the narcotic and Volstead acts.

Described by prohibition advocates as a step toward better law enforcement and characterized by Representative Graham, Pennsylvania, ranking republican on the judiciary committee as

"a monstrous piece of legislation" the bill as presented by the immigration committee, stood up against all attacks.

A motion to recommend that the provision relating to conviction in state courts might be eliminated was defeated and the measure was put through as framed, 222 to 73.

Representative Walsh, republican, Massachusetts, a member of the judiciary committee, which wrote the original Volstead act and who offered the motion to recommend declared he believed now as then that the enforcement law was made too drastic at the start.

Warning was sounded to prohibitionists by many members, including Representative Mann, republican, Illinois, a veteran of the house, that they were going too far, that there was danger of disrupting the whole system of law enforcement and that jurors would be unwilling to convict those who ought to go to jail, if it also meant deportation.

There were many references to the Anti-Saloon League and Wayne C. Wheeler, its general counsel. Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, charged that the "American bootleggers' union" and the league were standing hand in hand and fighting under one banner to get the alien bootlegger out of business.

CHARGE AGAINST ALLEN

Plea in Abatement Filed by Attorney General Heard by Judge Fessenden

BOSTON, April 5.—The plea in abatement filed by Attorney General J. Weston Allen to an indictment returned against him by the Suffolk county grand jury, charging larceny of $155 from the client, was heard before Judge Fessenden in superior court today.

The indictment was found shortly before the supreme court heard the petition of Mr. Allen for the removal of Joseph C. Pelletier as district attorney of Suffolk county, and the plea in abatement alleges that the district attorney exerted undue influence in obtaining the indictment by remarking to the grand jury that the Allen case was "a clear case of larceny."

Jeremiah A. Desmond, foreman of the grand jury that returned the bill testified that after the evidence was in the jurors voted in favor of a "no bill." When he found that the clerk had not made the entry, Mr. Desmond said another vote was taken, with the same result.

The witness asserted that Frederick M. Sheehan, assistant district attorney, then told him one of the jurors wanted reconsideration. This was granted and on the next vote an indictment was reported. After the reconsideration, Mr. Desmond said he saw Mr. Pelletier speaking to one or two of the jurors. The witness said he told the district attorney and his assistant "I think you'd better leave the room." They did so without comment, he testified.

On cross-examination, Mr. Desmond said the clerk of the grand jury had asked for the reconsideration. He testified that no questions had been put to Pelletier up to the time he told the jurors that the case was clearly one of larceny.

LOWELL NORMAL SCHOOL LECTURE

Faculty and Students Addressed by Specialist in Physical Education

Interesting Talk on Correction of Physical Defects in School Children

Miss Mary M. Callahan, a specialist in physical education in the public schools of Worcester, addressed the faculty and students of the Lowell Normal school yesterday afternoon on "Corrective Work for Physical Defects of School Children."

Miss Callahan spoke principally of the correct methods of sitting and standing, devoting a portion of her time to proper methods of eating, on the theory that prevention of defects is still more valuable than their correction.

The speaker began by discussing the sitting position, describing proper methods and those which are improper. She stressed the point that one should not sit so that one's weight rests on the bottom. In standing, said Miss Callahan, one should always stand with limbs in symmetrical position, with hips on a level. Children are prone to imitate their elders, and should be set a good example. The work of adults should be one of prevention rather than correction.

In her work in Worcester, said Miss Callahan, she made few corrections in the first year. It takes several months for corrections, and in cases of disproportionate structure, a long time is needed to restore the affected limbs to their normal places. About one-half the body's weight is muscular, therefore, an unnatural position is a great strain. To stand squarely upon one's feet is the only method by which one may endure strains upon the body. The knees should not be kept too lax, they need not be kept rigid, as a soldier's, but should be pulled up so as to keep the body erect. This, in connection with throwing out one's chest, helps one's breathing. The head should be held erect, not by tilting the chin, but by elevation at the back.

Standing and sitting are two important items, but how and what one eats is equally important. Gulping food hastily, with frequent drinks which hamper the work of the digestive organs, should be corrected. Cleanliness in children has been successfully enforced by conducting examinations with the pupils as examiners. Miss Callahan told of a successful experiment of this sort, which was attended by splendid results.

The speaker then discussed the classification of children according to physical appearance, mainly in position assumed by sitting or standing. She told how it had been systematized in schools under her supervision, and of the results attained. Very bad cases are reported to the school nurses. If cases are discovered which appear incurable by regular methods, and is secured from physicians.

From 14 to 16 are the years in which the bones are settling, and after that time correction is almost out of the question.

Walking is another thing which deserves attention. It is an operation of lifting and stepping, not of moving hips from side to side. If the nurse is given proper information in difficult cases, she may do much better work. The out-door departments of certain hospitals are utilized, and work is done exclusively by selected surgeons. A careful record of progress is kept in each case, all improvements being noted in chronological order.

Miss Callahan said, in closing, there are three things which are to be accomplished, to prevent deformities, to correct deformities, and to care for those which are incurable.

At the close of Miss Callahan's lecture, Miss Anne Hilary, president of the School and Society League, extended on behalf of her fellow-students, hearty thanks for the excellent address, promising that the school-teachers would never forget her instructions.

COMING OF FIRST IRISH TO LOWELL

The American Irish Historical society of Lowell calls attention to the fact that today, April 6, 1922, marks the 160th anniversary of the coming of the first Irish people into what is now Lowell. The following article relative to this historical fact is submitted by the society:

Under leadership of Hugh Cummings, one of the original builders of Lowell, these first Irishmen reported to Kirk Boudinot the present site of the American House a century ago to build their homes and begin the actual building of the town of Lowell. They constructed waterways, canals, dwelling houses, mills and streets.

"Lowell, which at that time was known as East Chelmsford, consisted of a few farms. From 1822 to 1826 this town grew into a thriving community of 3000 inhabitants and then became the incorporated town of Lowell. From that period the Irish and their descendants have come here and helped largely to make our city a prosperous community.

The spirit shown by those first Irishmen has been embodied by each succeeding generation in the advancement of American ideals."

FOUNDED 45 YEARS AGO

Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church to Observe Anniversary

The Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church will celebrate the 45th anniversary of its inception on Sunday with a communion breakfast, at 8:30 o'clock, and appropriate exercises to be held in the society hall. A beautiful chalice will be presented to the church as a thanksgiving offering.

Just 50 years ago the Holy Name society was established in America. Five years after the founding of the society in this country, Rev. Bernard F. McKenna, the great Dominican preacher, came to this city to conduct a mission at St. Patrick's church. A branch of the society was formed here at that time. That was 45 years ago next month, or in May, 1877.

As a strange coincidence, Fr. McKenna's successor as head of the Dominican missions, Rev. J. H. Healey, O. P., is now conducting a mission at St. Patrick's. With Fr. Healey present, and the anniversary such a short way ahead, it was decided to have the exercises next Sunday. Fr. Healey will tell of the wonderful work done by the Holy Name society and also of the labors of Rev. Fr. McKenna.

James O'Sullivan, a charter member of the St. Patrick's Holy Name and at the present time its president, will preside over the meeting. It will outline the history of the society, which, by the way, is the oldest branch of the Holy Name in this city.

A VERY RETICENT TRAFFIC OFFICER

On Tuesday of this week the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce, through its chairman, Henry A. Smith, requested the police authorities to place a silent traffic officer at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, and the request was complied with in just one hour, the place of apparatus being installed in record time.

Another request from the committee that a larger sign marking the road to Nashua and other New Hampshire cities be placed at the corner of Colonial avenue and Moody street, to replace the small one now in position, is under consideration. It is thought by the police that a better route would be that over the new Pawtucketville bridge, as the pavement on the Moody street bridge is in poor condition.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON HILDRETH BUILDING

When the work of reconstructing a portion of the ground floor of the Hildreth building began today the sign that formerly marked the store of Mitchell the Tailor was taken down, thereby bringing to light a sign of much older vintage, which reads "Lowell Postoffice." Apparently, speaking people had forgotten that the postoffice ever was located in Merrimack square, but the sign quickly brought back recollections.

The city's postal business was carried on there for a number of years, until sometime in the early thirties, when the present building was erected at Appleton and Church streets.

There has been built over a portion of the sidewalk in front of the building a regular "big town" kiosk of a type seldom if ever used in this city.

DECLINES INVITATION CURTAILMENT PROCESS BIG EXTENSION PLANNED

X. A. Delisle Says He Is Not Entitled to Reception Honors in Temporary Position

Acting Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle has declined the invitation of the Lowell Letter Carriers' association to attend a reception planned in his honor on Saturday evening of this week, for the reason that he is only the acting postmaster and as such feels that he is not entitled to any such expression on the part of the men.

The reception plans called for the attendance of both Mr. Delisle and Hon. John P. Meahan, retiring postmaster, and while Mr. Delisle feels that it is fitting and proper for the men to thus honor their former chief, he does not feel that he is entitled to a share of it.

Mr. Delisle has informed members of the carriers' association that after he has become more thoroughly schooled in his office, he might accept an invitation to attend one of the organization's regular meetings.

GIRLS ARE DRIVEN FROM MILL BY FIRE

Several girl employees of the Lowell Waste Co. at 705 Gorham street, were forced to leave their work and rush out of the building shortly before 9:30 o'clock this morning. The cause for the hasty exit was a fire in a waste picking machine.

It is believed that spontaneous combustion was responsible for the blaze, which quickly spread to bales of cotton near the machine and then worked its way through a chute to the next floor above. An alarm was sounded from box 223, but when the firemen reached the premises, the fire had practically been extinguished by the automatic sprinkler.

BUSINESS FOR LOCAL CONCERNS

Officials at the chamber of commerce have received a communication from the E. D. Ward Co., who are to make the alterations for the new S. S. Kreska store on Merrimack street, to the effect that it is the company's policy to trade with building material dealers as far as possible in the city in which they are working. The chamber authorities are gratified at this assurance of business for local concerns.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT JUDGE TALKS TO HIS JURORS

Men Arrested in Connection With Big Moonshine Raid, Arraigned Today

Justice Lawton Takes Advantage of Hiatus in Lowell Superior Court Session

Interestingly Explains Duties of Jury and Cites Cases as Examples

Judge Frederick Lawton, presiding justice at the Lowell session of the superior court, took advantage of the absence of cases ready for trial today, and addressed the jurors on the subject of proper-up reasons and certain problems they would probably have to deal with during the next 11 weeks.

A number of cases had been listed for trial today but, owing to absence of counsel, illness of witnesses and settlement of cases, there was none ready for actual trial. The juryman were excused until tomorrow.

Judge Lawton opened his remarks by saying that the court was confronted with a problem that often happens in the course of jury and court sessions. "We have no cases ready for actual trial," he said, "and it is not the fault of the court or of the clerk or of anyone connected with the cases; it is just the result of circumstances."

Have a Right to Know

"I am telling you men this because you are citizens of this county, because you are taxpayers and have a right to know where the money goes that is used for the running of this court. Doubtless you realize that to run this session today has cost a lot of money. Apparently it is wasted, as we are not to conduct a session."

"You gentlemen were all here Monday and heard the marking of the cases. You heard a number of them scheduled to be tried today. But we have no cases for various reasons. Some of the counsel are trying cases in other courts, some of the witnesses in cases are too ill to be here and the remainder of the cases scheduled were settled out of court."

"As citizens of this county, as taxpayers and as jurors, you might ask why more cases were not marked for this date. It is not the practice to have more cases marked for a day than can be reached. It is not fair to people to come here and wait around all day for their cases to come up. It involves a great deal of added expense."

"I might say a word regarding the conduct of the English courts in this respect. Although there are a great number of cases in that country, they are all tried in London. They have a better system of making them up. When a case is marked for trial it must be tried either party insists. Either party in the case would not dare to go into court and ask for a postponement owing to the absence of a lawyer. The court expects the people to have counsel there on time. If their own particular lawyer is not available, they must get someone else to look after the case."

Consolation for the Court

"You know the court's consolation in regard to no sessions on account of case settlements is that litigation has not been found necessary. The law encourages settlements outside of the courts. The ideal situation is for all who owe money or debts of any kind to pay them without resorting to court action. Then of course if action is threatened, the court is sure glad if the cases are settled without being brought to trial."

"There is something I wish to call to your attention and which may be brought before you some time during a trial. The plaintiff's counsel may ask the defendant in a case if, at some time, a conversation was held relative to a settlement of the case. This will be objected to by defense counsel and the objection sustained. The reason for this is the law encourages settlements, but if conversations relative to settlements were allowed as evidence, people would be afraid to talk over a case, regarding a settlement, before it was brought into the courts."

About Duties on the Jury

"Last Monday I had intended to talk to you men about your duties on the jury, but the great amount of work prevented that. I am going to take this opportunity. I do not mean to say that you will not construe my remarks as such. One of the duties you will be compelled to make certain findings which you may wish you could reverse. You must remember the oath you take that you will make your findings solely on the evidence submitted to you regardless of what you may otherwise think. Some men have an idea they should dispose of a case in what they consider the fairest manner to them. This cannot be the rule always; the evidence as admitted must be the chief concern."

The court also cited many examples and gave an interesting and instructive talk to the 35 or more jurors present.

THE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

On Wednesday evening, April 12, the annual meeting of the High School Alumni association will be held at the high school for the election of officers and the receiving of reports of the treasurer and secretary. "BLANTON DISGRACE TO HOUSE AND OUGHT TO BE KICKED OUT"

Cong. Garner Calls Texas Member of House "the Biggest Liar That Ever Spoke a Word of English in This Country"—Up- roar Follows—Sergeant of Arms Called by Speaker to Prevent Personal Clash

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Representative Garner, democrat of Texas declared in the house that if permitted by the rules to speak what was in the minds of 434 of the 435 house members he would say that Representative Blanton of that state "is a disgrace to the house and ought to be kicked out."

Mr. Garner's statement, coming after Blanton had defended himself against a newspaper article, threw the house into great disorder, and brought from the speaker a sharp, quick command to the sergeant-at-arms to prevent a personal clash after Blanton had shouted he would hold Garner responsible if called a liar by him.

"All kinds of liars" At the outset of a brief speech, Mr. Garner said that in this world there "are all kinds of liars, the artistic liar, the inartistic liar, and the common liar." Representative Blanton, sitting a few feet away, jumped to his feet, exclaiming: "And I will hold you personally responsible if you call me a liar."

Mr. Garner did not notice the interruption, but Representative Sumner, also of Texas, sitting nearby, jumped to his feet, and shouted: "Liar" at Mr. Blanton, at the same time starting in his direction.

It was at this point that the sergeant-at-arms rushed in and Blanton retired. Then there came from the democratic side of the chamber a cry: "Throw him out," and for a moment there was great confusion, Mr. Garner waiting until quiet had been restored to proceed with his speech.

Representative Blanton's speech, which started the row, dealt with an address recently made in Texas, in which he discussed some of the things provided for members of congress in the regular office building stores, which they are permitted to purchase out of each man's stationery allowance of about $125.

"You cannot defend these measly items of graft," he shouted, referring also to mileage allowances.

Attacking Blanton "as a creature," Mr. Garner declared:

"It is a hard thing to say what is in one's mind about an individual. I say I have the firm conviction that I believe this individual would debauch the virtue of his own family to accumulate wealth or to put himself forward from a political standpoint."

"Pointing to Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, a veteran member of the house and to Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic leader, Mr. Garner said nobody on earth would ever say that either would utter an untruth."

"But I have in mind an individual—not a man—a creature, who is the commonest, the biggest liar that ever spoke a word of English in this country. I have in mind a man who would put into the Congressional Record, if he had the opportunity, anything that would be calculated to make the people of Texas believe you get your food free in Washington."

Then making his charge as to "debauchery," Mr. Garner added: "I regret, Mr. Speaker, that I cannot speak what is in my mind. But if I could forget the rules of this house I would say Thomas L. Blanton is a disgrace to the house and ought to be kicked out."

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the republican leader, in a general reply to Representative Blanton, declared that in the 25 years of his service in the house he could count on one finger of one hand, the number of house members who "would stoop to graft, petty or otherwise."

Mayor Nominates President Walsh of Broadway Club, for Purchasing Agent

According to Policy, Council Will Table Nomination Tonight for Two Weeks

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he will nominate William A. Walsh for the position of city purchasing agent at tonight's meeting of the city council. Mr. Walsh is president of the Broadway Social and Athletic club and is very well known throughout the city.

What Mr. Walsh's chances are in the council are not known, but it is understood that he lost no time in interviewing councilors today as soon as the fact of the mayor's intention was made known to him.

No action will be taken on the nomination tonight as it is the policy of the council to lay all nominations on the table for a period of two weeks.

The mayor also will nominate Dr. Sherman as the present incumbent, for the position of animal inspector.

The nomination of William A. Walsh in the third place before the council by the mayor for the job now held by Edward F. Foye. Previous nominees who were defeated were John Y. Myers and Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

State Calls Upon Union to Furnish Fire Fighters for Third Mine Conflagration

Week-End Sessions of Joint Committee on Wage Contract Negotiations

NEW YORK, April 6.—Week-end sessions of the anthracite miners' and operators' sub-committee on wage contract negotiations, were agreed upon by both parties today as an aid to speedy settlement of the hard coal strike.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, headed the union delegation on the committee, and the miners predicted they would complete their case by tomorrow night. The operators announced they would be ready by that time to support their demands for a decrease in miners' wages.

Reports that the state of Pennsylvania had called upon the union to furnish fire-fighters for another mine conflagration, which broke out yesterday, were verified yesterday.

The fire is at the Leo collieries at Wilkes-Barre.

Three other fires also are being fought by the union men, one at Wilkes-Barre and two in the Scranton district.

THROWN OUT LIKE JUNK

Sen. Walsh Denounces Examination Which Will Force Officers Out of Navy

Such "Inhuman Treatment" Has Led to Talk of Prussianism in Army and Navy

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Charges that naval reserve flying officers were "thrown out like so much junk" by heads of the naval air service when the officers sought transfer into the regular service, were made by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, today before the senate naval committee, at an investigation of his allegations of unfairness by the navy in the examinations given the reserve flyers.

"I regret," Mr. Walsh declared, "that it was such an inhuman treatment as this" that has led to talk of Prussianism in the army and navy. He said that about 200 officers were about to be forced out of the navy because they had failed in examinations for which they had no opportunity to prepare and which included subjects wholly unrelated to aviation.

One of the officers, Lieut. S. N. Bradford, described by Senator Walsh as a "victim" of the examinations, appeared before the committee.

SCHOOL PAYROLL HELD UP

Budget Commission Questions Legality of Appointment of Two Teachers

At an adjourned meeting of the auditing and budget commission held at city hall this noon the payroll of the school department for the past month was held up on the ground that it contained the names of two teachers, whom the commission claim were illegally elected. The names responsible for the refusal of the members of the commission to affix their signatures to the payroll were those of Margaret C. Riley, teacher of sewing and Francis J. O'Brien, physical instructor, who were both elected to their respective positions a few weeks ago at a regular meeting of the school board. The commission's contention is that Miss Riley and Mr. O'Brien were elected without the recommendation of the superintendent, which action they claim was illegal.

This action is an echo of the controversy which occurred at the last meeting of the school committee, relative to the presentation to the committee by Maurice Lambert of an opinion from City Auditor Edward J. Tierney concerning the powers and duties of the superintendent of schools, particularly as they relate to his recommendation to the committee on election of teachers.

FINDING SUBMITTED IN THE TSAFFARAS CASE

The special police board appointed to hear the charges, including bribe-taking, preferred against Patrolman Peter Tsaffaras have reported to W. C. MacBryne, acting superintendent of police. Mr. MacBryne could not be reached this afternoon, but there was a rumor about the police station to the effect that the board had found Tsaffaras not guilty.

The patrolman was charged by one Joe Rodas, with accepting $400 for police protection against liquor raids with drinking on his premises while in uniform, and with bringing a customer to his home to purchase moonshine.

As the result of the Rodas' charges, an investigating board consisting of Deputy Chief Hugh Downey and Capt. Petrie and Atkinson met and heard all the evidence. Following the preliminary hearing charges were preferred against Tsaffaras.

Tsaffaras went on trial before a board consisting of Lieuts. Palmer and Ryan and Sergt. Bigelow. The trial occupied two sessions during which time many witnesses were called by both the government and defense.

Following the hearings the tribunal took the case under advisement and went over all of the evidence.

FINDS BOTH MISS CLARK AND LARSEN SUICIDES

BOSTON, April 6.—Chief Justice Wilfred Holmer of the municipal court, after an inquest today, made a formal report of suicide in the cases of both Pauline Clark and Otto H. Larsen, who took poison from the same container within a few days of each other three weeks ago.

A letter written by Miss Clark to her mother, Mrs. Sara Horlick, was introduced at the inquest.

"Dearest Mother: "Don't be surprised to hear that I have ended it all. It's not because there is anything I want and cannot have. There is nothing that I haven't got. Rather it is because of what I have and don't want. It's only a short time for all of us anyway. I hope this will not hurt you. Forgive me. With love, Polly."

MILL OFFICIALS ADMIT LOSSES

Additions to Ranks of Lawrence Strikers Due to More Drastic Picketing

Minor Outbreaks Believed to Have Kept Many Away From Mills

LAWRENCE, April 6.—Only 26 workers braved the picket lines this morning at the entrance to the lower Pacific mills where normally 2600 hands are employed and where yesterday it was estimated that about 500 were at work. The strikers hailed this as a direct result of the more drastic picketing and demonstrations at the mill entrance last night.

The Pacific mills, which normally employ 3200 workers, are by far the most important of those affected by the strike and it has been against the lower plant that the strikers have been directing their strongest efforts for the past few days.

Mill officials admitted heavy losses this morning but stated that no decision had been made as to closing the mills. For several days past they had claimed steady gains and they had stated that more workers must appear or the mills would be forced to close down.

Police said today that slight gains were made in the worst department of the upper Pacific mills, but it was estimated that not more than 1000 were at work at the three Pacific plants.

Rug Plant Reopens

The Patchogue-Plymouth plant, manufacturers of paper rugs, reopened this morning after having been closed since Monday. Officials claimed that the shutdown was due to lack of business but workers asserted it was due to the strike operations. Only 40 appeared for work. Normally 400 workers are employed.

Ben Legere, head of the One Big Union, was on the picket lines this morning. He announced that he would address a mass meeting in Methuen at 10 o'clock. Mass meetings were also scheduled at the headquarters of the United Textile Workers of America.

Disorders Last Night

Aldermen Carr and Scannon, heads of the public safety and public property and parks, respectively, were scheduled to hold a conference this morning to decide whether the permit granted to the One Big Union to hold mass meetings in the common would be revoked as a result of last night's disorders. After the mass meeting yesterday, the men ran to the entrances of the lower Pacific mills and several women were handled roughly and stones and sticks were hurled.

One More Chance

Alderman Peter Carr announced at 10:20 this morning that he would grant a permit for a One Big Union mass meeting on the common this afternoon. If a request is made for one, he said he would give the leaders one more chance to maintain order before forbidding them from meeting.

Ben Legere, who addressed a meeting of Acadia mill workers in the Methuen town hall this morning, said he hoped to secure the state armory for a mass meeting this afternoon. In the event of which there would be no meeting on the common.

"But wherever the meeting is held," he declared, "it will end so that the people can go to the mill gates for picket duty at 5 o'clock."

Not to Close Pacific Mills

A high official of the Pacific mill said today that his mill will continue to operate, although he admitted many remained away from work today at the lower Pacific.

Organizer Francis J. Gorman of the United Textile Workers of America said today that he was well satisfied with results at the lower Pacific mills and that this afternoon pickets would concentrate to some other gate. The exact gate will not be decided until a meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon, he said.

Armory Not Available

It was stated at the armory this afternoon that no mass meeting of the One Big Union or any other organization involved in the strike could be held within its doors. To grant the use of the place for such a purpose would be illegal, it was said.

PLANS FOR CREATION OF POST-OFFICE IN CENTRALVILLE SECTION

Congressman Rogers to Ask Congress for Special Appropriation to Carry Out Project This Summer—Would Be Large Separate Unit of City's Postal Business and Would Better Serve Upwards of 30,000 People

If the plans of Congressman John Jacob Rogers and Acting Postmaster DeHile are carried out, Centralville will have a postoffice of its own before the end of the summer. The new office proposed will not be a sub-station, but a full-fledged office, under the jurisdiction of the main office in Gorham street. The congressman will immediately ask congress for a special appropriation to carry the project through and if his request is granted, as it is believed it will be, the new office will be created as soon as possible. It not only will be of great benefit to the residents of that section of the city, but will prove a relief to the working force of the main office.

Shortly after his taking office Acting Postmaster DeHile made an investigation of the Gorham street building from cellar to attic and found a lack of facilities for the proper handling of mail.

50 Women Passengers Calmly Finish Breakfast as Craft Hits Reef

NEW YORK, April 6.—Half a hundred women passengers on the Long Island Sound steamer Concord from Providence, R. I., calmly finished eating their breakfasts this morning when the craft grounded during a dense fog off Sunkin Island, near the treacherous waters of Hell Gate.

Only a slight jar was felt as the steamer struck bottom. Stewards quietly told the diners there was no danger.

Fifty other passengers who were sleeping were aroused from their berths and police boats took all the passengers ashore safely. They were brought to New York by train.

The Concord grounded at the same time the City of Brockton, a New Haven, Conn., freighter, hit a sunken rock. The vessels were within 25 feet of each other.

Both vessels narrowly escaped running down a government barge and several launches near the scene of the accident.

Two police launches and a New Haven railroad boat took off the 100 or more passengers safely and landed them at uptown docks. They were later placed on trains arriving at the Grand Central terminal.

There was no panic, according to Captain Hardy of the City of Brockton and Captain Cobb of the Concord. No one was injured. Both skippers declared their belief that the vessels would be floated with the flood tide. Apparently neither craft was damaged to any extent.

The City of Brockton, a freighter, sailed from New Haven, Conn. All the passengers were on the Concord, which sailed from Providence, R. I.

WILL GIVE SCHICK TEST TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dr. Francis A. Finnegan, director of school hygiene, yesterday spoke to a number of the mothers of pupils of the Weed street school, in preparation for the Schick testing to be made on about 25 boys and girls of that school tomorrow forenoon.

Dr. Finnegan not only outlined the methods of giving the Schick test and the benefits thereof, but also spoke at some length on general health matters, stressing particularly the point that it is always wise not to delay in calling one's family physician at the first signs of illness.

The hygiene director will be assisted by the Weed street school tomorrow by Dr. Boyle, school physician of that district.

WOMAN'S FATE IN HANDS OF JURY

Case of Olivia Stone, Charged With Murder of E. G. Kinkead Goes to Jury

Accused Woman Confident of Early Verdict in Her Favor

NEW YORK, April 6.—The case of Olivia M. Stone, charged with the murder of Ellis G. Kinkead of Cincinnati, went to the jury at 11:28 o'clock today.

Hope that she would be free to go to her mother before the end of the day, was expressed by Miss Stone, when she left jail in Brooklyn today to hear Supreme Court Justice Aspinall charge the jury that will decide her fate.

She passed a restless night. About 2 a. m. she dropped off into a light sleep, and woke more composed, though highly nervous. She ate a light breakfast before leaving for court.

Miss Stone's defense was that, betrayed by Kinkead, she had traced him, hoping to get him to right a wrong. She testified that on the day of the shooting, she was seized with cramps, took a drink of gin, and after she met Kinkead, had a temporary explosion of the brain, and recollected nothing of the shooting.

CITY AUDIT COMPLETED

Report of State Accountant Expected to Embrace Several Recommended Changes

The audit of the city's books and accounts for this year was completed today by J. F. Rockett, representative of the division of accounts, state department of corporations and taxation, who has been working on it for the past several weeks.

Within a month he will have his report ready to submit and while he would not disclose today any of its contents, it is understood that it will embrace recommendations of radical changes in the book-keeping systems now in vogue in a number of departments.

The audit this year has been done by the state under its right to conduct one every three years, but, also, it will serve as the audit usually made for the city by an employed accountant.

DONAHUE REAPPOINTED HIGH SCHOOL COACH

CIVIL SERVICE SCANDAL

Two Clerks Charged With Selling Questions to Police Removed

BOSTON, April 6.—Commissioner Payson Dana yesterday announced that he had cancelled the civil service examinations given last month to patrolmen and sergeants for promotion.

Are You Nervous?

Do you feel on the verge of a breakdown? Does your back ache or do you feel nervous? Listen to what this woman says—

Schenectady, N. Y.—"For many years I have been a user of Dr. Pierce's remedies whenever the occasion warranted it and I have never found them lacking, always obtaining good and beneficial results. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a woman's tonic and nervine is excellent. On two occasions I was wonderfully helped by its use. I had two very severe nervous breakdowns, one in early years and again when I was in the forties, and the 'Favorite Prescription' restored me to health and strength each time. 'Also I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and consider it the best blood medicine and building tonic one can take. It renovates and purifies the whole system and makes you feel as though you had a new lease on life.'—Mrs. Amanda Case, 801 Becker St.

You can get either of these wonderful tonics from your nearest druggist in tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There is no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

In the Boston police department and removed from office Assistant Civil Service Examiner John McMaisters and Frederic Thomas, whom he alleged, confessed they had sold candidates advance copies of the examination questions.

Police Commissioner Wilson is conducting an investigation and declared that members of the department who were found to have participated in the fraud would be brought before the department trial board, on charges seeking their dismissal and that court action would follow.

Sergeant on 'Sick Leave'

Sergeant Albert W. Carnes, a detective sergeant attached to the automobile division at police headquarters, who was questioned in connection with the case, is officially on 'sick leave.' He was seen at his home, 4109 Washington street, Roslindale, last night, but refused to come to the door.

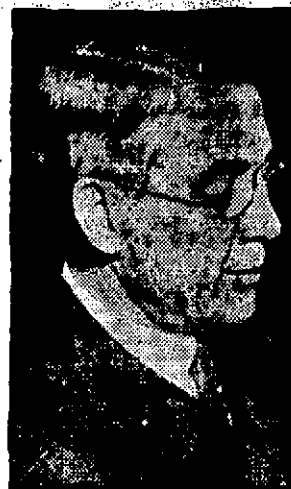

Commissioner Wilson said that Sergeant Carnes' resignation has been received, but that it had not been acted on. He declared that the suspension of Traffic Officer James A. Steele and William T. Ellis pending an investigation of an automobile case had no connection with the civil service matter.

Investigation by the authorities has been in progress a week. It came to a head Saturday when Commissioner Dana called McMaisters and Thomas before him and confronted them with charges of tampering with examination papers.

Commissioner Dana said that he is conducting a complete investigation. McMaisters and Thomas, he declared, admitted giving out copies of the questions to be used in the examination of candidates for lieutenants. He believes, however, they did not give out advance copies of the examination papers of candidates for sergeants. Nevertheless the civil service head cancelled both examinations.

McMaisters has been an assistant examiner about two years and Thomas for a period of a year and a half. Should it be found that irregularities extended to other examinations, the commissioner said these also would be cancelled. As yet he had no knowledge of other cases.

Information came to me that there was a possibility that copies of questions for examination for lieutenants in the Boston police department, held March 27, had been sold to some of

MOVIE ENTERTAINMENT BY LOWELL AD CLUB

An interested audience watched the moving picture show given last night in the chamber of commerce, under the auspices of the Lowell Advertising Club. The show was open to the public, free of charge, and a number availed themselves of the opportunity to witness one of the country's most popular actors, Douglas Fairbanks.

While the picture was not the latest creation of this screen star, it showed him in one of his best roles. It was entitled 'The Matrimaniac' and gave 'Doug' plenty of chance to cut up to the queen's taste. For more than two hours he cut up more antics, did more running and racing around at top speed than any collection of circus performers. A comedy called 'Inbad the Sailor' completed the bill.

The screen was set up against one of the hall doors and the machine near the windows. Although the pictures were a bit smaller than those shown in the regular theatres, they were clear at all times. The pictures and machine were furnished through the courtesy of the Prince-Walter company.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association held yesterday Mrs. John A. Stevens was elected first vice-president and will assume all duties of directorship until a president is chosen. Other officers for 1922 are: Second vice-president, Mrs. William L. Wiggin; secretary, Mrs. Nathan Bulfinch; and treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Morrison. The board of directors will include Mrs. Joseph Barber, Mrs. Royal K. Dexter, Mrs. J. B. Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Lovejoy, Mrs. Walter Muzzey, Mrs. John Osgood, Mrs. William Robertson, Miss Emily Skilton, Mrs. Carl J. Sittlinger, Mrs. Cumner Talbot and Mrs. George Upton. The annual reports, submitted by Mrs. Walter L. Muzzey, retiring treasurer, and Miss Frances D. McNair, general secretary, gave proof of a year of progress, despite the fact that a reduced budget made general expansion and development impossible. A more substantial bank balance was on hand March 1 of this year than on March 1 of 1921.

THE NEW DORT DELIVERY CAR

In response to an insistent demand on the part of Dort dealers and their customers, the Dort Motor Car company now adds a half-ton delivery car to its line.

This car measures squarely up to the Dort policy of building well. In a series of the most thorough tests, it has proved itself equal in factors of strength, stamina and endurance to light delivery cars of much higher price. Regardless of its ability to stand comparison with the best the market affords, the Dort half-ton delivery car is sold at a surprisingly low figure. It will merit your most careful consideration.

AMERICAN CARDINALS HONORED BY POPE

BOSTON, April 6.—The life-long permission to have a private chapel, in which to celebrate mass, wherever he may live, has been granted by Pope Pius XI to the secretary of Cardinal O'Connell, according to information received last night by cable message from Rome.

Whether this honor has been conferred upon the Rt. Rev. Richard J. Haberlin, official secretary to Cardinal O'Connell, or upon the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Spaine, permanent pastor of St. Joseph's church, Roxbury, both of whom accompanied Cardinal O'Connell to Rome, is yet a matter of doubt.

In the absence of definite naming, it is not known which of the clergyman is thus honored, but it is believed in religious circles that the one named is Monsignor Haberlin, who accompanied Cardinal O'Connell to Rome as his secretary and who, it is presumed, would have accompanied him to the conclave had the cardinal's party arrived in time.

The privilege to have a private chapel in which to celebrate mass is conceded by Pope Pius XI to the secretaries who accompanied Cardinal O'Connell of Boston; Cardinal Begin of Canada and Cardinal Daugherty of Philadelphia, although these prelates arrived too late to participate in the conclave. This privilege is given all the secretaries who attended the cardinal's during the conclave.

The privilege of celebrating mass in private chapel is said by Bishop Anderson, in charge of the archdiocese during the absence of Cardinal O'Connell, to be a signal honor, as it is usually given only to bishops of the church.

SUPERIOR CHEVROLET COMPLETE FOR $615

Few cars if any attracted more attention at the recent Boston show than did the exhibition of Chevrolet cars. Conspicuous among these cars is the Superior Chevrolet, which sells at $615 delivered. "This," according to Frank Woodell, of the Benter and company, 155 Middlesex street, "is the lowest priced completely equipped automobile in the world manufactured in volume and equipped with three-speed and reverse standard transmission."

This Chevrolet model has been wonderfully improved in the past few months. Chief among these improvements are a newly-designed spiral leveling gear and pinion rear axle assembly, the parts of which are not interchangeable with any other make of car. Timken roller bearings on front wheels, hand-controlled emergency brake lever, new tapered knuckle and heavier steering arm, positive alignment of transmission secured through new methods of assembly, re-designing of seating arrangements in the rear seats, also proved front and rear springs—all sturdier, more convenient and more comfortable.

LOCAL GREEK COMMUNITY

A meeting of the members of the local Greek community will be held this evening in the parochial school hall for the purpose of making arrangements for the observance of the 101st anniversary of the independence of Greece. It is believed that the celebration will be in the form of a mass meeting in Associate hall next Sunday afternoon with patriotic addresses by prominent speakers.

BIG BUSINESS IN AUTOMOBILE TOPS

During the war and for the period of big automobile demand immediately following the close of the war, touring and roadster models of many makes were put out with interior tops. The result is that many car owners are obliged to have new tops put on their cars. The auto department of the Donovan Harness company is now doing an abnormal business in automobile tops. They are equipped to do regular factory work and are kept going at top notch speed at this season of the year.

IRISH ARMY REGULARS IN HOT SKIRMISH

DUBLIN, April 6.—A lorry carrying Irish Republican army regulars was ambushed yesterday near Bray, Wicklow. Many shots were exchanged between the soldiers and the party forming the ambush. The lorry was disabled, but its occupants escaped injury.

"HEARTBURN AND HEADACHES STOPPED BY INTERNAL BATHS"

Mrs. E. D. Bailey, 123 Channel St., Newark, O., writes Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"I can truthfully say that the Cascade has done me a wonderful lot of good. I had heartburn or sour stomach for 18 years and would take soda in a little water to relieve the misery for a short time. But since using the Cascade have never been bothered that way, and I can eat anything. I have also suffered so from sick headaches, and have used the Cascade for them and can cure one in one-half hour. I have had very few headaches since using the Cascade. The Cascade is a grand thing in that it helps you to help yourself."

The "J. R. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine in its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that "Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment."

LIGGETT'S DRUG STORES will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the "J. R. L. Cascade," why it is so certain in its results, and will give you free of cost, an interesting little book containing the results of the experience of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who was a specialist on intestinal complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not cut this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Turkey. The garrison numbering 10 men offered no resistance, some remaining with the republicans.

Two automobile loads of armed men went to Ballyhaunis, County Mayo, Tuesday night, says the Dublin Herald, and entered the houses of two disaffected members of the Royal Irish Constabulary named Cranna and Butler, and shot and killed Cranna, who was in bed, and seriously wounded Butler.

The Irish Independent says armed youths entered Swinford, Mayo, Tuesday during the weekly market. They ordered the market stopped and the stores closed for 10 minutes. Their demand was refused, and after firing shots in the air the youths left the village.

Later, however, 100 of them came back and wrecked shops which still refused to close. They continued the disorders until everything was shut down. A local judge who resisted the wreckers was attacked.

One hundred men yesterday drove off a large number of cattle from a grazing ranch near Carrick-on-Shannon. This is the second incident of its kind this week.

The publicity department at the Beggar's Bush barracks, near here, yesterday quoted Captain Hurley of the I. R. A., who was operated on in a Dublin hospital yesterday for a wound, as saying he was shot in the thigh and wrist at Galway by a party of men who demanded from him the keys to the Renmore barracks.

WATCH SAVED LIFE OF WALTHAM MAN

WALTHAM, April 6.—Having in his left-hand vest pocket a watch which deflected one of the bandits' bullets from his heart, undoubtedly saved the life of George A. Sumner of 13 Mt. Vernon street, Charlestown, night inspector for the Waldorf Lunch company, who is in a serious condition at the Waltham hospital as a result of a murderous attack made on him early yesterday morning by a group of five automobile bandits, near the Waltham-Waterbury boundary line.

During the battle in which fully a dozen shots were exchanged, Sumner was shot twice in the left leg below the knee, while the bullet which completely shattered his watch was deflected.

The discovery of the shattered watch was made at the hospital, after his leg had been dressed. As he was being undressed the battered timepiece was found in the vest pocket and the bullet fell to the floor. While Sumner's condition is serious, it is not considered dangerous.

Sumner believes that the bandits expected to find the receipt of a large number of lunch rooms upon him. However, he had only a small sum of money, which they failed to get.

SEN. WALSH URGES AERONAUTICS SCHOOL

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator David I. Walsh's resolution directing the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy to report to congress on the feasibility of establishing a school of aeronautics was passed by a unanimous vote in the senate yesterday without a roll call.

With reports that the two secretaries are likely to give Mr. Walsh is hoping that it will be possible to focus the attention of the country on the vital need of maintaining an efficient air force. There is the likelihood that both secretaries will favor the present method of training airmen and urge a larger appropriation to carry out the work by the departments. But that is not wholly Senator Walsh's.

"I want to see created," he said yesterday, "an academy along just the same lines as West Point and Annapolis, where a cadet will receive four years' training in the theory and practice of aviation. I know that I am a great many years ahead of the average conception of the potentiality of air navigation. I do not want to pose as a prophet of what is going to happen 25 years from now, but I do think that we should not be behind in our study and development of this all-important branch of national defense. It is my aim to focus the attention of the country on this matter. We should have government plants for the turning out of aircraft in the same way there are government arsenals and navy yards. I am hoping that the reports that the two secretaries will make on this matter will bring before the people of this country the need of maintaining an equal standard with foreign countries in this branch of the transportation service."

SOVIET ENVOYS ARRIVE IN ITALY

GENOA, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Russian soviet delegation has arrived in Italy and is being escorted to Rapallo, by a specially detailed detective force. The Russians were met at the frontier by Count Ricotti, secretary to the foreign ministry. The latter greeted them in the name of the Italian government.

U. S. ENTERED WAR FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Today is the fifth anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the war against Germany, as it was on April 6, 1917, that this country declared that a state of war existed between the United States and the German empire.

In the words of President Wilson, America on that date was again "privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth."

CODE FOR IDEAL POLICE OFFICERS

BOSTON, April 6.—A code for ideal police officers was given by Chief of Police John L. Sullivan of Pittsfield, to the Massachusetts Safety conference. "Police officers," he said, "should be patient, kind and courteous, talk, think and dream 'safety first' for the people they serve; should earn appreciation of citizens by giving them friendly warnings, when needed, and should not 'call down' traffic offenders in public when it can be avoided. Policemen should be close friends of children and try to accomplish the untold good they can do for their fellow man."

NEW YORK, April 6.—Uncle Sam has pensioned Cornelius Vanderbilt of Paterson, N. POWER OF FRENCH DELEGATES RESTRICTED

PARIS, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The French delegates are going to the Genoa conference without full powers. This decision by the government may develop complications.

It is explained by persons close to Premier Poincaré that he was obliged to make strict reservations regarding the powers of the French delegation because of the sensitiveness of parliament.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Members of Former Royal Family and Suite at Funeral of Ex-Emperor

PUNCHA, Madras, April 6.—(By the Associated Press) Perfect weather marked the funeral of former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, yesterday. The coffin, covered with the old Austria-Hungarian flag, and smothered with floral crosses and wreaths, was conveyed in a hearse to the temporary mausoleum erected in the parish church.

The ceremony was impressive and was attended by members of the former royal family and their suite. The service was conducted by the bishop in full robes and his attending clergy. The route to the church was lined with people, and nothing but respect was shown as the procession passed.

MANDARIN SLEEVES CHARACTERIZES NEW COATS

Topcoats of the moment are almost without exception shown with wide mandarin sleeves. Yet the smart suit of this season has still, in most cases, the extremely snug sleeve that has been in vogue for several years. Why?

To learn the reason for the wide sleeves of the new coats, one must consider the dresses over which they will be worn. For the full-length coat is the boon companion of the one-piece frock, and must conform to that frock's changing moods or see itself supplanted by a cape.

The bare elbow has for some months been hiding itself in long and wide sleeves, some hanging loosely, mandarin fashion, others gathered into a snug cuff or full at the wrist. It is snug cuff or full at the wrist. It is snug cuff or full at the wrist. It is snug cuff or full at the wrist.

Drop Promise to Obey Episcopal Church Committee Urges Changes in Marriage Ceremony

NEW YORK, April 6. (By the Associated Press.)—Recognition of the changed status of women by striking from the Episcopal marriage ceremony the promise to obey, and eliminating the compulsory giving in marriage, was proposed by the commission on revision of the book of common prayer in a report made public last night.

Gaining equal rights with men in their marriage vows, however, the women would lose a special privilege now accorded them. For the proposal to change the ceremony also provides for striking out the bridegroom's pledge, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

The commission's report, published in the form of a 320-page book, and proposing more than 250 alterations and the inclusion of seven entirely new offices, or forms of worship, will be submitted to the triennial general convention of the church at Portland, Ore., next September. Under the constitution of the church it cannot be adopted until it has been approved by two general conventions, but members of the commission hope to see the changes finally ratified at the 1925 convention.

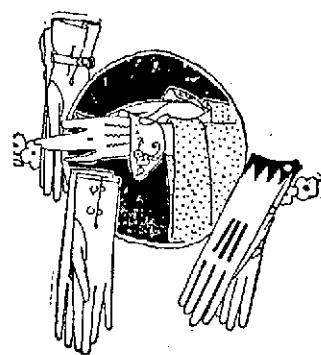

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT EVERETT, April 6.—The 56th annual encampment of the Massachusetts department, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held at Faneuil hall, Boston, on April 11 and 12, Commander Edwin F. Morse announced today.

New Radio Marvel Perfected By Squier, "Edison of the Air"

NEW YORK, April 6.—The "Edison of the radio," Major General George O. Squier, chief of the army signal service, is about to launch a new marvel on a world too bewildered by wireless wonders to have any capacity for wonder left. When his new device is ready you will be able to carry your wireless set in the form of a cane, ever ready for a chat with some friend out at sea or with your wife in case she wants to remind you about matching that piece of silk she pinned in your pocket.

Or you can safely take an afternoon off to go to the ball game, confident that a buzzing in the cane you carry over your arm will notify you in case your secretary calls you up and that you will be able to close that big deal with a few pregnant words into your walking stick while watching Babe Ruth make another one. Or you can—

But it's no use speculating for the wildest stretch of imagination might fall short of the next place of radio wizardry from General Squier, although it would seem to a layman that the only thing left for him to invent is a method of radio-telephoning without any instrument at all, just by thinking of the person you want to call up. This bright idea is offered to General Squier with diffidence, free of charge.

Miracles Free of Charge

Which recalls the fact that the general is turning out his miracles free of charge. With the selfish devotion of the true scientist, he bestows his brain children upon humanity.

It was but recently that General Squier perfected a device, enabling anybody living in an electric lighted house to receive broadcasting service by simply attaching the usual receiving instrument to a light socket, thus

CONDITIONS THAT CALL FOR A TONIC

Weak, run down, lacking strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, without appetite, digestion disturbed—these are the symptoms named by a great majority of the people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills correct the condition described and if you have these symptoms you should give them a trial. They are especially good for the debility following the grip and influenza as this statement shows.

"An attack of the grip, left me very weak and run down," says Mrs. Emma Silva, of No. 194 Bennington street, East Boston, Mass. "I did not get my strength back. I was tired, had no ambition, did not have any appetite and at times I was very nervous. I could not stand any noise and did not sleep well. I had headaches that affected my eyes and my complexion was bad. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and as I had heard from friends that they were good I gave them a trial."

"While I was using the first box I noticed that my appetite was getting better and as I continued the treatment I could see that my strength was increasing. My nerves grew stronger and I began to feel like myself. I know that I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I have taken no other medicine."

doing away with the necessity for antenna and a lot of contraptions. He demonstrated the invention at the Signal Corps headquarters in Washington, simply removing a bulb from a lamp on his desk and inserting the plug of a receiving instrument and thereby receiving the broadcasting service.

He explained that the broadcasting station was connected with the lighting circuit through a lamp receiver, and predicted that the new method would relieve much of the prevailing radio congestion which has been worrying the government.

To him also is due a recent device by which heart beats can be amplified so that a doctor may make a diagnosis from them while listening at any point in a spacious building. The demonstration of that invention made a great hit with an invited company that included many national legislators, and General Squier remarked:

"Everybody has a heart, you see—even congressmen."

Without the work of General Squier it would not be possible for the Chicago police to be equipped, as those in outlying districts are today, with radio receivers in the upper pockets of their tunics, so that headquarters can "get" them at any moment and put them on the heels of a criminal while the crime is fresh. Nor would it be possible for 700 wireless phones to be installed in the cabins of the Levantian, whereby the passengers will be able to converse with the shore all the way across the Atlantic.

And these are only the more popular high spots in the work of the "Edison of the radio." His research has developed results of profound importance in a technical, non-spectacular way, and other nations have recognized his scientific eminence with a bundle of honors and decorations. He is a fellow of the Physical Society of London and a member of the Royal Institution of Great Britain, a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and, at home, a member of the National Academy of Sciences, a Distinguished Service medalist, and many times a medalist of the Franklin Society.

MICH. U. ALUMNI TO MEET BY RADIO

DETROIT, Mich., April 6.—What is described as the largest university alumni assembly in the world's history will take place the night of April 26. Graduates of the University of Michigan, numbering thousands and scattered between the Atlantic ocean and the Rocky mountain will hear again the strains of "The Victrola," and "The Varsity," dear to the heart of every Michigan man, played by the university band. They will hear the same college yells that for years have resounded over Ferry field and the campus and listen to talks by Coach Fielding H. Yost, for 21 years the most striking figure in college football, Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, president of the university, and others.

All Michigan men and women in the prescribed zone will participate in the relation who are fortunate enough to possess radio-homes receiving sets. According to word received here many thousands of the graduates will avail themselves of the opportunity and "listen in" either by means of individual receiving sets or gather in groups to hear the voices caught out of the air by large receiving apparatus.

The reunion will start at 8 p. m. and continue for two hours.

The list of speakers includes repre-

Duncan Tells Why Sending Power of Radio Varies

By R. L. DUNCAN
Director Radio Institute of America

Radio waves in the air behave pretty much like waves in the water.

Suppose a string is attached to a stone which is plunged in and out of the water, constantly sending out wave lengths—this is just the operation of a radio transmitter during a sending.

If the stone is large and more force or pressure is put behind it, the waves will travel outward farther.

Just so with a radio transmitter. If the source of power is greater, the electromagnetic waves will travel a longer distance.

But length of the wave will remain the same. The amount of power of a sending set has nothing to do with the wave length.

Wave lengths depend on the amount of inductance and capacity in the antenna circuit of the set and the frequency with which the alternations take place in the transmitted current.

In the transmitting instrument there is an inductance consisting of a spiral coil of heavy copper wire which is variable. By means of this more inductance may be added and the wave length increased.

If the main antenna has too much inductance and the wave length is too long, a condenser of about .001 capacity is placed in series with the antenna circuit to cut down the length.

Wave lengths travel with the speed of light—150,000 miles a second.

The waves may be sent out in one direction, if the antenna is constructed directionally.

Take a large, flat stone and let the largest surface strike the water first. The waves will travel with more volume in one direction.

In radio transmitting the directional aerial is used only when the transmitting stations want to throw the most of their energy in one direction.

Broadcasting stations do not use directional antennas. They want to cover the largest possible area.

Astatic Pair—This term means two magnetic needles of equal length and strength which are fixed parallel with unlike poles adjacent and with magnetic axis in the same vertical plane.

FLIERS ARRIVE AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

ST. VINCENT, Cape Verde Islands, April 6.—(By the Associated Press) The Portuguese aviators who are attempting a flight across the Atlantic from Lisbon to Brazil, arrived here safely yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from Las Palmas Islands. They left Gando bay, near Las Palmas, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Portuguese aviators, Captains Sacadura and Coutinho, left Lisbon in their light hydro airplane at 7 o'clock last Thursday morning. They landed safely the same afternoon at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, having flown a distance of more than 1000 miles. The second leg of the trans-Atlantic flight, from the Canaries to the Cape Verde Islands, which they successfully accomplished this afternoon, is about the same distance. The third hop, from the Cape Verde Islands to the island of Fernando Noronha, is 1300 miles and from there to the Brazilian coast at Pernambuco, 1278.

IN COURT FOR 63RD TIME IN 25 YEARS

HAVERHILL, April 6.—George Whiting, the city's champion district court defendant, appeared in the docket on a drunkenness charge yesterday for the 63rd time in the last 25 years. Whiting's record, which covers two cards in the police index, shows that he has spent nearly eight of the last 15 years in a state and county institutions as a result of his fondness for liquor. Judge Winn sent him to the Bridgewater state farm to add another 12 months to his score. The police say that Whiting's avocations are shoe cutting and gardening.

Sentences of many branches of university activity, as well as of the alumni and the students.

Willie Ickson, former All-American football captain and who helped to write American gridiron history will speak for the alumni. Bernie Bick, baseball captain and All-American center last year, Captain Duke Dunne of last year's football team, football Captain-elect Paul Goebel and Recent James O. Murfin are on the program.

Existence of the organization was revealed when its folders began to come through the mails, with the space for the signature of the chairman left blank.

ELECTRICIANS AGREE TO WAGE REDUCTION
WORCESTER, April 6.—Members of the electricians' union in Worcester have signed a six months' agreement with the Building Trades Employers' association, accepting a reduction of two and a half cents an hour. Under this new agreement, effective April 1, the electricians are receiving 85 cents an hour.
As the story was told today, the employers recently met the men in a conference and asked them to accept a cut, but did not desire to force them to accept a reduction. The employers further explained that a reduction in wages would help the electrical business.
Following the conference, the electricians held a meeting and voted the reduction of two and a half cents an hour. The electricians' union is the only union affiliated with the building trades in Worcester which has signed an agreement. Efforts are now being made to have the other unions make a voluntary cut and sign agreements.

LAMSON CO. REFUSES TO PAY $10,000 FEE
HAZARD, Ind., April 6.—In her answer to the suit for $60,000 worth of bonds, which she asserts she found in a Chicago taxicab brought by Lamson & Co. of Boston, Mrs. Charles Jagger of Gary yesterday offered to return the certificates to the Boston concern, providing the company will reimburse her for attorney fees and expenses and give her a reward.
The Lamson Co. refused these stipulations when it found that she owed her lawyer $10,000 and had $1500 expenses.

SOUTHBRIDGE MILL TO CUT WAGES
SOUTHBRIDGE, April 6.—The Hamilton Worcen company, manufacturers of worsteds, announced a wage reduction today, beginning next Monday. At the same time the mills will resume work on a full time schedule. Officials of the company said the cut would average "close to 20 per cent." The mills, which employ 1500 operatives, have been operating four days a week for the past month.

Only Movie Sheiks Are Dark, Handsome and Passionate

LLOYD HUGHES

EILEEN CASSIDY

(By JAMES W. DEAN)
NEW YORK, April 5.—Sheiks, dark, handsome, mature, dominating men of deep-rooted passion—according to popular conception engendered by the novel of Edith M. Hull and the Valentino movie version.

In reality some sheiks are blonde, some are six years old and some wear white beards. Very few of them know how to make love and some of them wouldn't take the second look at a passing maiden.

John Dos Passos throws this bomb into Gapper's dreamland.

Dos Passos recently returned from the sheik country. He footed, horsed and cameled through the sands of Turkey, Persia and Arabia.

"Sheiks are little tribal chieftains," Dos Passos told me. "Some are big ones and some are little ones. Before 1914 the Sultan of Turkey spanked the sheiks and sent them to school. Then they were well-behaved and well-educated. Not now, though."

"They aren't fierce and they're not handsome. They talk mostly of sand, camels and rawness. Their little hands appear suddenly in the desert and inform the traveler that he cannot pass unless he is a member of the tribe. You become a member by paying a fat extortion fee and then you're allowed to pass."

"The sheiks never discuss women. It is bad form to do so. Marriages are arranged beforehand by parents, so the courtship as we know it does not exist. I never saw anything approximating a love scene. Yet I have read Arabian love poetry. It must be that the emotion of the sheik finds expression in some manner not apparent to the dull Occidental eye."

DOS PASSOS

John Dos Passos leaped into fame with his war novel, "Three Soldiers" (Doran). Probably no book of recent years so sharply aligned critics. Heywood Brown was the author's chief proponent; Coningsby Dawson, the chief adversary. The story was about three disgruntled service men who mouthed profane maledictions against the discipline of the American army. This writer was one who believed Dos Passos' brilliant picture was painted in too many colors. He likened Dos Passos to a fire-eating horesheer of his own battery who cursed Newton D. Baker because he had to take baths under compulsion. Yet in the flesh Dos Passos appears as gentle as a 12-year-old horse at the end of a day's hard toil.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Little Production" which Cowan and Bennett, assisted by Estelle Davis, present at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, is one of the neatest of acts complete in every detail and filled with gladsome music. Cowan and Bennett have written all of their songs hits, and they are real hits. Another melodious act is that of Cunningham and Bennett, which is called "She's a Great Girl." It is a great act. "A Pair of Calves," with Val Harris & Co. in the big work is snappy all the way through. Other good points to the bill are: The Skatelles, Dave Roth, the Three Danes Sisters and Willie Howard and Brother.

OPERA HOUSE

Miss Anna Layne and Harry Hollingsworth, the former the clever character woman, and the latter the popular leading man of the stock company at the Opera House, will hold receptions on the stage immediately after this afternoon's performance. The presentation of "A Mother's Secret" is their last offering of the season. Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, Miss Marguerite Fields and Vincent Denno, the latter the clever juvenile man of the company, will hold a reception, and on Saturday afternoon the entire company will meet the patrons after the performance. Saturday night will be goodby night, at which time there will be speeches by the members and local people. Order your tickets at once.

THE STRAND

Miss Du Pont, the handsome blonde who portrays the character of the wife of the American ambassador—one of the foolish wives of the story—depicted in Von Stroheim's masterpiece of the screen, "Foolish Wives," which is being shown the entire week at the Strand, made an enviable reputation for herself in this—her first big production, and since that time has been starred in more recent productions of the film. Miss Du Pont is strikingly handsome, and has unusual ability as well, which promises to make her one of the new stars of filmdom. Von Stroheim as the egotistical Russian count, who preys on women's weaknesses, handles a difficult role with the same finish and satisfaction that stamps his work as that of a real artist. Capacity audiences at all performances is the rule. Better attend as early as possible. Come early and avoid the rush.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Lowell's biggest and best fashion show got under way this afternoon at the Merrimack Square theatre when seven beautiful models began demonstrating the latest ideas in spring suits, coats, millinery and gowns for the women of Lowell. The usual excellent motion picture program is also being presented during the week-end with William Collier, Jr., in "Cardigan," and Mae McAvoy in "Morals," as the leading features.

RIALTO THEATRE

Mildred Harris in "Habit" and Geo. Walsh in "Serenade," form the double feature bill, which will decorate the screen at the Rialto theatre for the three last days of the week, beginning today. Both are reputed to be among the best of the season. In addition there will be the usual radio concerts, which have now become the rage with movie patrons. "Habit" is a photoplay of unusual dramatic appeal, in which the imported fashion gowns of New York take a prominent part. Mildred Harris is seen in her best. "Serenade" is a story of Spanish love, in which George Walsh stars.

PINAFORE TO BE GIVEN EASTER MONDAY

The performance of "Pinafore" to be given by Frederick O. Blunt for the Lowell Teachers' organization at the Opera House on the afternoon and evening of Easter Monday, April 17, will be the second of the group of Gilbert and Sullivan revivals presented by that capable producer. Last spring, under similar circumstances, Mr. Blunt staged "The Mikado."

It was about a dozen years ago that Mr. Blunt last produced "Pinafore," the chorus and principals at that time being pupils of the high school. Singing the part of Josephine was Marion Lane, who is again to be heard in the same role.

To those who heard the very excellent performance of "The Mikado" a year ago, it will be interesting to know that Miss Charlotte Walsh and Edward F. Slattery, Jr., are both to be in the "Pinafore" cast. The former is Little Buttercup, and Mr. Slattery will be heard in the part of Sir Joseph Porter.

The chorus singing is sure to be enjoyable. Included in the chorus are a good many of those who sang a year ago and the number has been increased to fifty.

The Gilbert and Sullivan operas are always attractive. Clean, humorous and tuneful, they never tire. This year's revival of "Pinafore," in singing power and attention to detail, will approach a professional production. It is the only thing of its kind to be offered in Lowell this season.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

Treasurer Greene of the Pacific mills of Lawrence made a statement a few days ago for the information of the striking employees, giving his reasons for the proposed cut-down and stressing especially the dull market, shorter hours of labor and the higher wages paid here than in the mills of the south, with which the New England mills have to compete.

It may be said of Mr. Greene that he is the only mill treasurer who made any earnest attempt to explain fully just why a wage cut at this time is considered an absolute necessity. He said he felt it due to the employees to get such an explanation for the reason that they could not have confidence in the management if they believed it guilty of duplicity or injustice. For this reason he welcomed the fullest publicity.

President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers has replied to Mr. Greene's statement in a most courteous and conciliatory manner, stating that nothing stands in the way of a harmonious settlement if Mr. Greene is willing to enter into any form of arbitration with his employees. President McMahon puts the issue in a very moderate form; and it is hoped that Treasurer Greene will see the wisdom of submitting the whole question to arbitration inasmuch as the strikers have no desire to be unfair towards their employers, but they do feel that it is a grave mistake on the part of any textile manufacturing company to endeavor to bring conditions in New England down to a level of those existing in the south. Rather should the effort be to raise the textile industry in the south to the level of that of other parts of the country. It is plain that when any comparison is instituted between the operatives of New England and those of the south, that while wages may be lower and hours of labor longer in the south, such a condition is only what might be expected and that it should not outweigh the greater skill and productive capacity of the New England operatives.

The one thing greatly to be regretted in connection with these mill strikes is, that there is no government authority invested with the power to interfere and bring the parties together for a conference and general discussion of all the issues involved. From the very beginning, it would seem that a settlement satisfactory to both sides was feasible, if only the existing misunderstandings were removed. The loss entailed by the prolonged struggle and the feeling of resentment that will remain long after the strike, will more than outweigh what might be conceded by way of compromise on the part of the mills in order to secure industrial peace and that feeling of confidence in the mill management which is evidently highly appreciated by Treasurer Greene.

SIMS AND BENSON

Editor Sun:
Dear Sir: Will you please inform me why Admiral Sims' name is on the front of the Memorial Auditorium and Admiral Benson's does not appear? There are a good many people in this city who think Benson's name should be there instead of that of Sims because they believe he is an able man and a better American.

An explanation in your paper will oblige.

Yours truly,

J. M. G.

In reply to the above communication, we may say that had President Wilson shown better judgment by appointing Admiral Benson instead of Admiral Sims to take charge of the American naval forces overseas during the war, then Benson's name and not that of Sims, would have been inscribed on the facade of the Memorial Auditorium. The name of General Pershing appears among the list of distinguished generals, because he was in charge of our military forces in France, although, doubtless, generals as able, as patriotic and as brave were held at home.

Thus the architect or the commission in selecting the names of Pershing and Sims because they had charge of our military and naval forces in the war, followed the usual custom in such cases. It was in accordance with the same rule that the name of Admiral Sampson was chosen instead of that of Admiral Schley, although the latter was in the battle of Santiago harbor and Sampson, the admiral in command, was not. If any other rule were followed, however, the number of eligible names would be so great that they could not be used on the space available. If there was discrimination against Admiral Benson in any quarter or at any time, it was shown by President Wilson in not selecting him for service overseas.

WHERE WE LEAD

Statistics issued by the census bureau showing the percentages of deaths from typhoid fever in the registration area in 1929, prove that Massachusetts stands out pre-eminently as the lowest in the country except Wisconsin, in which the rate is the same as ours. But if several years are taken into account, our state stands first in the smallest death rate from this disease. Thus, for 1926 and the four previous years, the number of deaths per 100,000 population are 2.5, 2.7, 4.1, 4.9, 4.7. For the same years the rate for Wisconsin are: 2.5, 2.1, 3.8, 5.2, 5.9. Rhode Island comes next with these rates: 2.8, 2.3, 5.7, 5.8, 7.2.

It is astonishing to find that in some states, chiefly in the south, the rates are about eight times as high as in Massachusetts. These figures prove that our health authorities are very successful in protecting the people against impure drinking water, which is the main source of typhoid infection, although dirty dairies and uncleanly milkmen are also a source of danger, but against these also the health authorities are ever on their guard.

No city in the state has a purer water supply than Lowell. The driven wells are expensive in the amount of pumping entailed, the filtering process of removing the iron and other mineral solutions from the water; but on the whole, it is worth all it costs to have a constant supply of pure drinking water in every part of the city.

The water supply of Lowell is unsurpassed by any in the United States.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

Speaking in Boston last week, Captain Dubose, manager of the Charlestown Navy Yard, pointed out what would happen should the naval appropriation be inadequate to maintain the yard. Boston navy yard turns out the entire supply of rope, and most of the chain used in the navy. Should the yard be closed, the government would have to go into the commercial field for its rope and chain, he said. Eight thousand civilian employees of the yard would be out of work. There would have to be found some other place to store the historic frigates now stationed there. And worst of all, New England would be barren of a naval base of consequence, the only two remaining naval organizations being the Newport, R. I., training station and the Portsmouth yard, both of which probably would be scrapped before the headquarters of the naval district at Boston would be eliminated.

Captain Dubose said consideration of this contingency was not mere idle speculation, for should naval appropriations be made too low, many navy yards and stations certainly would have to be closed for lack of maintenance. And, he pointed out, were Charlestown yard to be closed, all New England would be left wide open to the mercy of whatever nation happened to have a few serviceable warships, and a bridge against Uncle Sam.

Under the terms of the treaty, we shall have a navy entirely small enough. False economy is the proper term by which to characterize the proposed slash to a personnel of only 55,000. Even if we do have a small navy, let us have enough men to man it. Slash appropriations elsewhere if necessary, but at least let us have sufficient men to man what we may be "entitled to" in the way of a navy. After the treaty experts finish their task, let us hope that one of the amendments will be accepted, to save the day at least temporarily.

CHURCH FIRE-FIELD

The pyromaniac who poses as an electrician and enters churches and other institutions to cross wires so as to start fires, is the latest development in criminal progress. There is now very tangible proof that such a character has been responsible for the fires that destroyed the magnificent basilica at the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre and the church of the Sacred Heart at Montreal.

That anti-Catholic hatred is the motive is indicated by the fact that only Catholic churches have been destroyed in this manner. The fact that one of the Bremen while fighting the flames that destroyed the Sacred Heart church, heard a man remark that "St. Bridget's would be next" and that several instances had been found in which he had arranged crossed wires to cause ignition, leaves little doubt as to the real cause of the fires that destroyed the two magnificent edifices mentioned.

It is to be hoped the Montreal police will be successful in finding the culprit and that unless he is mentally irresponsible he will be brought to justice. The fire fiend that applies a knowledge of electricity in his nefarious work is certainly a most serious menace to any community.

COAL PROBLEMS

The miner, for digging coal out of the earth, gets only a fraction of what is paid by the consumer who buys the coal.

Railroads collect freight charges averaging $2.48 a ton, for hauling the coal from mine to market, according to the National Coal association.

The coal jobber, who serves as a go-between or purchasing agent, takes an average of 10 to 25 cents a ton.

Then the retailer has his "overhead" or fixed charges—rent, office help, unloading from car, making deliveries, etc. This overhead varies probably from 50 cents up to $2 a ton.

The distribution of commodities is intricate, complicated and costly. It is a penalty of civilization, a wide gap separating producer from consumer, but it is there and is one of the dominating factors in the coal strike.

TINKHAM'S CHARGES

Congressman Tinkham has shown considerable courage in his attack upon the anti-saloon league. If this league has been violating the corrupt practices act, an all-alleged, it is but right that it should be called to account and exposed. While the aims of the league have doubtless been entirely worthy, it is not so certain that its methods have been equally honorable.

Wages are tumbling but rents are fixed.

Efficient management might serve instead of wage cuts until values are stabilized.

The spring clean-up is on and it should reach all the pools and corners.

If only a railroad strike would come now, we should have the conditions which some people seem to want.

SEEN AND HEARD

There may be a limit to the radio range, but not to the radio rage.

Isn't it about time for the annual discovery of a building trust?

"Bob" Manning is willing to bet that on the first day of baseball 15,000,000 grandmothers will be buried.

Another world war in 2014 is predicted. Congress had better start on the bonus bill now.

The man writing a book on hades probably got his idea from sleeping in an upper Pullman berth.

Thought For Today

No man perhaps suspects how large and important the region of the unconscious in him is; what a vast unknown territory lies there back of his conscious will and purpose and which is really the controlling power of his life.—John Burroughs.

A Word a Day

Today's word is Exhilarate. It's pronounced—eg-zill-ah-rayt, with accent on the second syllable. It means to make jolly, to make glad, to enliven, to animate, to cheer. It comes from—Latin "exhilarare," to make merry. Companion words—exhilaration, exhilarative. It's used like this—"The sun of spring days exhilarates even the most unresponsive of us."

Some Day, Johnny

In an east end of London a school mistress was reading to her class Shelley's "Ode to a Skylark." To test the intelligence of her scholars she asked if they could put into different words, expressing the same meaning, the line, "Hail to thee, blithe spirit—bird thou never wert." An arm shot up from the back row. "Well, Johnny, let us hear how you would put it." "Hi, cocky. You ain't no blinkin' bird."

Trustin' to Providence

In a certain mining district of Scotland it is the custom of the miners to have a "bit draw o' the pipe" before going down and after coming up from the shaft. For this purpose the pitmen often borrow tobacco from one another, but one of these concocted a scheme by which he appeared unable to lend. He kept two tobacco boxes, one of which was always empty. This he named "The World." The other, which was often full, he called "Providence." When asked for a "pipie," he would reply, "I haven't a bit in 'The World.' 'What are ye gawn the dae for a smoke, then?' was generally the next query. "Trust to 'Providence,' my calant. Trust to 'Providence' for it hardly ever fails."

Take All But Cable

Another very curious propensity of the wolveness is its habit of stealing the carrying away articles which can be of no possible use to it, says the American Forestry Magazine. An instance is recorded where these animals removed and concealed the whole paraphernalia of an unoccupied hunter's lodge, including such articles as guns, axes, knives, cooking vessels and blankets. Experienced hunters and trappers claim that a big wolveness may weigh as much as sixty pounds, but that fifty pounds is the more usual weight. They are very tenacious of life, and instances are on record where the animal has been shot through and through the chest, and not encumbered to the wound. In such cases, of course, the heart is not penetrated.

Or Anyway You Like

In Nonsense Land the trees are blue (or red or any other color you like). The houses are of wood (or of stone or any other material you like). And all the scenery is grand; The mountains stand upon their peaks And stay that way for weeks and weeks. While rivers, streams and brooks and creeks Run up the hills in Nonsense Land!

In Nonsense Land the birds are queer. They show the airy atmosphere. And here and there, and there and here, They burrow holes in desert sand; The Goodbye Bird, the Spotted Bird, the Wink-wink Bird, the Burdoodle Bird. Wear wicker hose on either limb And live on Whoop, in Nonsense Land.

Then there are animals which range From Roddoffa to the Fantods strange. They all have measles and the mange. An easy fact to understand: When you remember that they live On quiddle pounded through a sieve Which has a flavor fugitive But loses vigor when it's canned.

In Nonsense Land is wealth immense. For though of course they have no cents The dollars grow with speed intense. On trees that sprout on every hand, But all the money is counterfeit. So no one ever uses it. Which seems particularly fit To those who live in Nonsense Land.

In Nonsense Land love takes its course, Highlighting often with divorce. And then comes marriage, then perforce Comes courtship last—for thus it's played.

Then widows in the chief of crimes And men are jailed for it, at times. And bards write naught but foolish rhymes (Such rhymes as this) in Nonsense Land!

—BERTON BRALEY.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

While the rest of us brood over economic problems, light-hearted independent artists exhibit their paintings in New York. They call themselves psycho-plastics and explain that the art of the individual is an ultra-dimensional, temporal-spatial art, appealing not to separate sense organs but to the residue of undifferentiated sensitivity, that is to say, their art is synaesthetic.

Gosh! And some of us call the problem of raising money for the landlอร์ด complicated! What if we had to add an understanding and application of psycho-plastic art to our burden?

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, in combination with the American War Mothers and other organizations, will stage the nationwide sale of Memorial Poppies the week before Memorial day, and will urge the wearing of the Flanders flower in honor of those who died in France. Committees are being formed in each state to handle the distribution and sale of the poppies. All money received to go to service and relief work of the organization. Familiar may be secured from the national headquarters, 32 Union square, New York. In this connection the following verses on the poppy will be of interest:

Christ looked down upon the conflict. In the war's most tragic hour, Wept at sight of blood-drenched water fields.

Planted there a blood red flower. Grew it where the dead had fallen, Filled it where the dying lay. So the world would still remember When the war clouds cleared away.

Though the charging armies crushed it, Straightaway it would grow again. 'Tis a sad world's blood-hued token Of the sacrifice of men.

Where it grows some soldier's life-blood Has been spilled upon the ground; And it dies and weeps and tremes Over every cross-marked mound.

It is Christ's and it is yours, For it typifies the blood shed On the whole world's fighting lines.

Take it, keep it, and protect it. If you crush it, it will bleed; For the crimson Flanders poppy Was a man's blood in the seed.

THE LOWELL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BULLETIN

The Lowell Chamber of Commerce Bulletin for April marks a notable improvement by the organization in that it is the first issue to appear in printed form. Heretofore bulletins have been published monthly, but have been mimeographed, and the new departure contains in its four pages a wealth of material which it would have been extremely difficult to include in former issues.

Among the many interesting editorials, news items, committee lists and well written articles, the front page of the new publication gives the place of honor to a splendid discourse on Lowell's latest and most notable building enterprise, the Memorial Auditorium described by the Bulletin as the "Tribute of a Grateful City to Our War Veterans—About the First and Best in the U. S."

In this article, which is headed by an excellent view of the auditorium, showing the main entrance and the river alongside, the history of the structure is reviewed from January, 1917, when Mr. John A. Hunsnewell, manager of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., evolved plans for a public memorial and presented a memorandum outlining his proposition to the board of directors of the old board of trade, now the chamber of commerce. The next step, according to the Bulletin, was taken at a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trade, which comprised James C. Kelly, president, Arthur T. Safford, John A. Hunsnewell, Robert F. Marden, John L. Murphy, when Mr. Hunsnewell brought forth plans which were fully discussed, relative to a public hall which would serve, first, as a memorial to those enlisted men who took part in the great war, and secondly, the local necessity for a public hall.

A committee was then appointed to consider the advisability of constructing such a memorial, and the following members were charged with the duty: Arthur T. Safford, chairman; John A. Hunsnewell, Robert F. Marden, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph.D., Joseph A. Legara, Stanley B. Qua, Otto Hackmeyer, John H. Harrington and Mayor Perry D. Thompson.

The bulletin comments on the labor and thought given the project by the committee, saying they were all men who gave freely of their time and as much thought and labor as they would in building a $10,000,000 mill.

Commendatory remarks follow in which it is said that Lowell became, through the committee's activities, the pioneer city of the country in establishing such memorials, with the idea spreading throughout the country, although a man who has recently visited every state in the Union said that our Lowell auditorium is about the finest of its kind and the first completed.

The committee, according to the Bulletin, found that Mr. Hunsnewell's idea of having a large auditorium with smaller halls containing suitable memorials prevailed, and that at a meeting on Dec. 8, 1918, a resolution drawn up by Mr. Hunsnewell was unanimously adopted, by the provisions of which there should be erected the present Memorial Auditorium, dedi-

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

John Barleycorn is sinking. One foot is in the grave; Though people still are drinking. The alcohol they crave. The stuff is getting rarer And scantier—and worse— Until we drink in terror With visions of a hearse.

John Barleycorn is weaker. Less potent is his thrall. Though the earnest seeker Can still get alcohol; Though bootleggers flourish Upon their profits (at You can't forever nourish John Barleycorn on that.

John's devotees diminish. As John's good hooch runs out. He's getting near his finish. There isn't any doubt; He won't be perished wholly For quite a while, I guess, He's dying very slowly. But dying, none the less!

ated to Lowell men and women who served in the great war, a public building containing a hall capable of seating at least 5000 people, equipped with a grand organ, with suitable tablets to bear the names of Lowell men who served in the war, and a hall of records and trophies of war. The resolution was adopted by the directors of the board of trade on Dec. 10, 1918. Proper methods of procedure were placed in the care of a committee of three, J. A. Hunsnewell, Stanley E. Qua and John H. Harrington.

This sub-committee drew up plans which were finally enacted and a petition for the enactment of the necessary legislation was signed by the president, James C. Kelly, on authority given him by the directors, and the committee was continued until the bill was passed in the legislature. The petition was also signed by the mayor and city commissioners. The campaign carried out to ensure the passage of the bill in the legislature is described at length, with its successful termination. The municipal finance committee made all necessary changes in the bill and it was passed with little or no further alterations.

Following the passage of the bill the Memorial Auditorium commission was appointed by the mayor as follows: John H. Harrington, chairman; Clarence H. Nelson, Walter L. Parker and Arthur L. Eno. This committee will remain in power until the building is turned over to the city.

The cost of the building is estimated at $10,000,000 by the commission, in direct compliance with Mr. Hunsnewell's original proposition. The committee has exercised great care to keep within its appropriation. The Bulletin says, incidentally, that it is one of the very few municipal commissions appointed for big jobs which has accomplished its task within its appropriation, and with all bills paid, as will be the case, it is said, when the structure is relinquished by the commission at its dedication. The Bulletin remarks further on the deep sense of gratification which must be felt at the moment of dedication by those men in the old board of trade, now the chamber of commerce, who proposed the auditorium and gave their time and effort generously to see the project all the way through.

The building today, says the new Bulletin, fulfills all the original ideas, with a seating capacity of 4500 in the main hall.

The work of Messrs. Hunsnewell and Harrington from the institution of the undertaking until the present time is commented upon enthusiastically.

As the coal strike starts, the nation has about $5,000,000 tons of bituminous above ground and in storage. That is enough to supply the country for at least two months at present rate of consumption, which coal jobbers estimate at 7,000,000 tons a week.

In the final week of the bituminous miners' strike of 1919, open-shop mines produced 5,311,000 tons of coal. The strategy of the union miners will center on unionizing the open-shop mines. Anthracite highly unionized. Strike stops production.

Freight Traffic

Railroads are moving about 30 cars of freight a week for each 70 cars during the corresponding weeks of 1919. The gain is at least 100,000 cars a week. Half of the gain is due to heavy coal movement, stocking against strike.

MONTHS OF SUFFERING

How a Baltimore Girl Recovered Her Health

Baltimore, Maryland.—"For several months I suffered with severe backache and general weakness. I could not sleep comfortably at night for pains in my back. I found your book at home one day and after reading it began at once to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very good results and some of my girl friends are taking it now. You may use this letter to help other girls, as the letters in your book helped me."—ROSE WARDNER, 3018 Roseland Place, Baltimore, Md.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well. Just plain statements, but they want of her women to be helped.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and an ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. It has helped many women. Why not try it?

per cent. capacity. Trade rumor is that the corporation in first two weeks of March booked orders 5 per cent. in excess of capacity.

Fuel Oil

Oil men who are expecting a sudden pick-up in the fuel oil market, as a result of the coal situation, are apt to be disappointed. Fuel oil stocks are burdenously big.

General oil outlook is better. Some of the pipeline companies in the mid-continent field, which furnishes the bulk of the gasoline, are offering inducements to contract crude oil runs for balance of the year.

Prices Up

Average wholesale prices advanced three per cent in February, reports the federal reserve board. This brought the average to 44 per cent above 1913 average, against 56 per cent in February a year ago and 39 per cent in December, the low point. The upswing is a natural result of growing confidence and stimulated buying in primary markets.

Psychology

Coal brokers expect no material increase in bituminous prices during April. If a runaway market develops, it probably will be due to an epidemic of fear, stampede.

General business, after being dominated by uncontrollable deflation for a long time, now depends largely on national psychology. Business will go up or down during the spring and summer, according to the degree of confidence among the people and their industrial leaders.

An odorless powder is being manufactured by a German company which, it is claimed, will render wool moth-proof.

Unrest Among Women Due To Wrong Job, Says She

MRS. GEORGE BURDETT FORD

By RUTH ABELING

NEW YORK, April 6.—More than 50 per cent of the married women who were employed before marriage were doing work in which they were not interested.

This startling information comes as the result of a questionnaire sent to several thousand married women by Mrs. George Burdett Ford, prominent New York club woman, who will make a complete report on the questionnaire at the national convention of the Y.W.C.A. at Hot Springs, April 20 to 27.

Mrs. Ford, herself a Smith college graduate, believes much unrest among women is due to girls' easy acceptance of the first job which presents itself at the completion of their school work and their equal willingness to drop that job with a fluid the moment marriage becomes a possibility.

Early Work Means Mischance

"Girls must be brought to a realization of what their early work and their attitude toward it can mean to them after they establish homes of their own," says Mrs. Ford.

"The youngsters who are now in training should be brought to see that their outside job is not a thing to be dropped at the altar; that even if they do not keep on professionally, a kindred interest should carry over their early married years so that something, if nothing more than a point of view, will endure to save their later leisure from emptiness, fatty degeneration, middle age and other ills which hinder those years from being the better half of life.

"Whether or not the married woman who has a large amount of leisure

RECOVERY BY UNITED STATES

Sen. Lodge Points Out Signs of Recovery From the Wounds of War

Urges United New England in Effort to Remove Rate
Differentials

BOSTON, April 6.—Soaring prices of Liberty bonds, and the fact that in two years the public debt has been reduced by three and a half billion dollars prove that the United States is rapidly recovering from the wounds of the war, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge declared last night at the annual dinner of the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce at the Copley Plaza hotel.

"A nation that has paid off in two years more than the sum—three billion dollars—that represented the total national debt of the United States at the close of the Civil war, is a pretty solvent nation," Senator Lodge said.

"This, too, when we are still so close to the great conclusion of the war," in addition to the address of Senator Lodge, who sketched briefly the results of the Washington conference, a special discussion of the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence waterway and power project was presented at the dinner.

"Urging co-operation between Massachusetts and the other New England states in the effort to remove rate differentials which, he said, discriminated against New England ports, Senator Lodge declared there had been little of such united effort in the past.

"I am no admirer of sectional groups or 'blobs,'" he said, "but I do think it the duty of every portion of the country to see that it receives equality of treatment in all things that are controlled by government or laws. The great empire state of New York has almost identically the same interests as in New England—great industrial communities, dense populations and dependence for its prosperity largely on the business that passes through the state. New York has 45 members of congress and two senators. New England has 32 members of congress and 12 senators. I merely mention these figures to show that the two would make a pretty formidable group if put together."

As evidences of a return to normalcy in the country's business, Senator Lodge cited, in addition to higher bond prices and decreased public debt, a 13 per cent drop in the cost of living in the past year, and at the same time an advance in the products of the farm and of the great western agricultural regions.

"This may seem an anomaly," he said, "but it is merely that we are getting back to a normal level, getting rid of the enormous cost of distribution and reaching a sound level of production and consumption. Other things will help in that same direction. I am not prepared now to make a tariff speech on the advantages of protection because I don't know just what is in the tariff, but I hope it will be reported this week."

Of the results of the Washington conference, Senator Lodge said that they would, in his judgment, tend to make world conditions more stable, in business as in other directions. Summarizing the work of the conference he concluded:

"I am far from saying that it is a final work that has been accomplished—that there will be no more wars—but it is a concrete substantial achievement."

"I have always believed that more could be done by the United States, free and untrammelled as she is, for the peace of the world and the welfare of mankind than by any other country. The United States is the one great obstacle to a return to chaos. And the United States has not failed. She has taken the lead in this great work of peace. Future times will number as one of her great achievements the fact that she took the lead and that she made this beginning, rendered this great service to promote the peace of the world and the greater happiness of humanity."

HOUSE PASSES ALIEN BOOTLEGGER BILL

WASHINGTON, April 6.—By a vote of more than three to one, the house yesterday passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing the deportation of aliens convicted in state or federal courts on charges of having violated the narcotic and Volstead acts.

Described by prohibition advocates as a step toward better law enforcement and characterized by Representative Graham, Pennsylvania, ranking republican on the judiciary committee as

"a monstrous piece of legislation" the bill as presented by the immigration committee, stood up against all attacks.

A motion to recommit so that the provision relating to conviction in state courts might be eliminated, was defeated and the measure was put through as framed, 222 to 73.

Representative Walsh, republican, Massachusetts, a member of the judiciary committee, which wrote the original Volstead act and who offered the motion to recommit, declared he believed now as then that the enforcement law was made too drastic at the start.

Warning was sounded to prohibitionists by many members, including Representative Mann, republican, Illinois, a veteran of the house, that they were going too far, that there was danger of disrupting the whole system of law enforcement and that jurors would be unwilling to convict those who ought to go to jail, if it also meant deportation.

There were many references to the Anti-Saloon league and Wayne H. Wheeler, its general counsel, Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, charged that the "American bootleggers' union" and the league were standing hand in hand and fighting under one banner to get the alien boot-

SOLDIERS HOLD UP 50 PICKETS

Men, Armed With Stones, Waiting at R. I. Mass. Line for Truck Loads of Workers

Men at Work at Plant, Where Strike is in Progress, Carry Revolvers

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 6.—Soldiers today held up 50 pickets who had assembled near the Lebanon bridge, the boundary line between Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The soldiers were waiting for trucks containing workers who are daily conveyed from Pawtucket to the Crown Manufacturing company's mills. The soldiers searched some of the men and claimed they found stones in the pockets of several, while one had a .25 calibre revolver. They took this man to the armory, where he gave the name of Manuel Costa. He was afterwards turned over to the police who charged him with carrying concealed weapons. Deputy sheriffs on guard at the Crown Manufacturing company's plant today heard the reports of two revolver shots. On investigating they learned that two workers on their way to the Crown mill fearing that pickets on duty at the plant of the Home Bleach and Dye company, intended to molest them, fired their revolvers in the air. The men reached the mill in safety. Strike leaders say they will ask the police by what right the workers carry revolvers.

Manuel Costa pleaded guilty in the district court today to the charge of carrying concealed weapons and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. Labor leaders say the case will be appealed.

Central Falls police report that the automobile which a son of Supp. Cavagnough of the U. S. Cotton Co. was driving in that city today, was stoned by strike sympathizers.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 6.—Railway shares, especially coalers, again featured the higher range of prices at the active opening of today's stock market. Accumulation of these issues pressed to be based on the peace moves by Washington. Reading, Norfolk & Western and Ontario & Western made one point gains. St. Louis & San Francisco, Baltimore & Ohio, and Erie Marquette, pfd., also strengthened. Bethlehem, the strongest of the steel and equipment and motors, notably American and Baldwin locomotives, Westinghouse, Studebaker and Chandler, hardened with Mexican and Dutch. Oil supplies were represented by American in a gain of 1/2 points.

The market strengthened as trading broadened in every direction during the morning. Sales to noon were estimated at 750,000 shares. Many new high records were made by steel, motor, equipment and railroads, especially of the independent stocks, especially of the coal and oil groups, as well as U. S. Steel and Studebaker. Chandler, General Motors, Westinghouse, Elmer, and Storage Battery, Baldwin, and Pressed Steel Car was accompanied by gains of one to four points. Oils extended this advance and Great Southern and Canadian Pacific and Chicago & North Western were among the other conspicuous features. Call money opened at 1/2 per cent.

The market continued to give a broad demonstration of speculative enthusiasm in the afternoon. The recent advance had been so violent in many cases, speculators were disposed to take profits on a large scale, but the absorptive capacity of the market was so great, these offerings had very little effect on prices. The practice of shifting from one group to another was continued. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, New York, Ontario & Western, New Haven and Mexican Petroleum, were moved up in rapid fashion, at gains of 2 to 3 points.

Market Street Railway pfd. and prior preferred Mexican and Pan-American Petroleum and several of the tobacco, chemicals and minor rails extended their gains later, but United States Steel Studebaker and General Motors eased on profit taking. The closing was strong.

The property includes 20 tenements in Prince street, while there are a number of parcels of similar property in Worthen street, running from Main here 61 to 65. The property varies in height from two to three stories and all the buildings at one time were corporation boarding houses.

Rev. John Theodore of the Near East Relief committee addressed the teachers of the high school to the school hall this afternoon on the sufferings in Armenia and Mesopotamia. Lewis Predicts "Fight to a Finish"

NEW YORK, April 6.—Refusal of some of the bituminous operators in the central competitive fields to accept the house labor committee's invitation for a conference with the miners will mean "a fight to the finish," John L. "The operators apparently are determined to go through with their ruthless program," he said, "to crush the union by brute force, and drive the miners backward until they are absolutely in the power of the operators."

PROBES SALE OF PAPERS

Investigation of Civil Service Scandal—Asst. Court Clerk Suspended

BOSTON, April 6.—Suspension of Herbert S. Hill, assistant clerk of the municipal criminal court, marked further investigation today of the sale of civil service examination papers to candidates for promotion in the Boston police department.

The reason for Hill's suspension was not made public, but officials said he had been mentioned as the "go-between" in the sale of the papers to candidates for police sergeantates. Civil Service Commissioner Payson Dana said he was convinced that John McManis of Lynn and Frederick Thomas of Lowell, who confessed to the sale of the papers, were the only members of the department involved.

"A thorough investigation is being made by me to find out if there have been any other irregularities in previous examinations," Mr. Dana said. "If so the examinations will be cancelled. To date the only improper examination found was that relating to the Boston police sergeantates. Upon completion of the investigation, I will refer the matter to the attorney general for presentation."

LONDON, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—indications that the situation in Ireland is becoming dangerous in consequence of the growing antagonism of the republicans toward the supporters of the Free State are given in newspaper despatches received here.

Hostile demonstrations by the rebellious section of the Irish republican army against the I. R. A. regulars have been reported with increasing frequency in the last few days. These are often accompanied by shooting and also the seizure of Free State property, but there have been no serious casualties, nor clashes on any considerable scale.

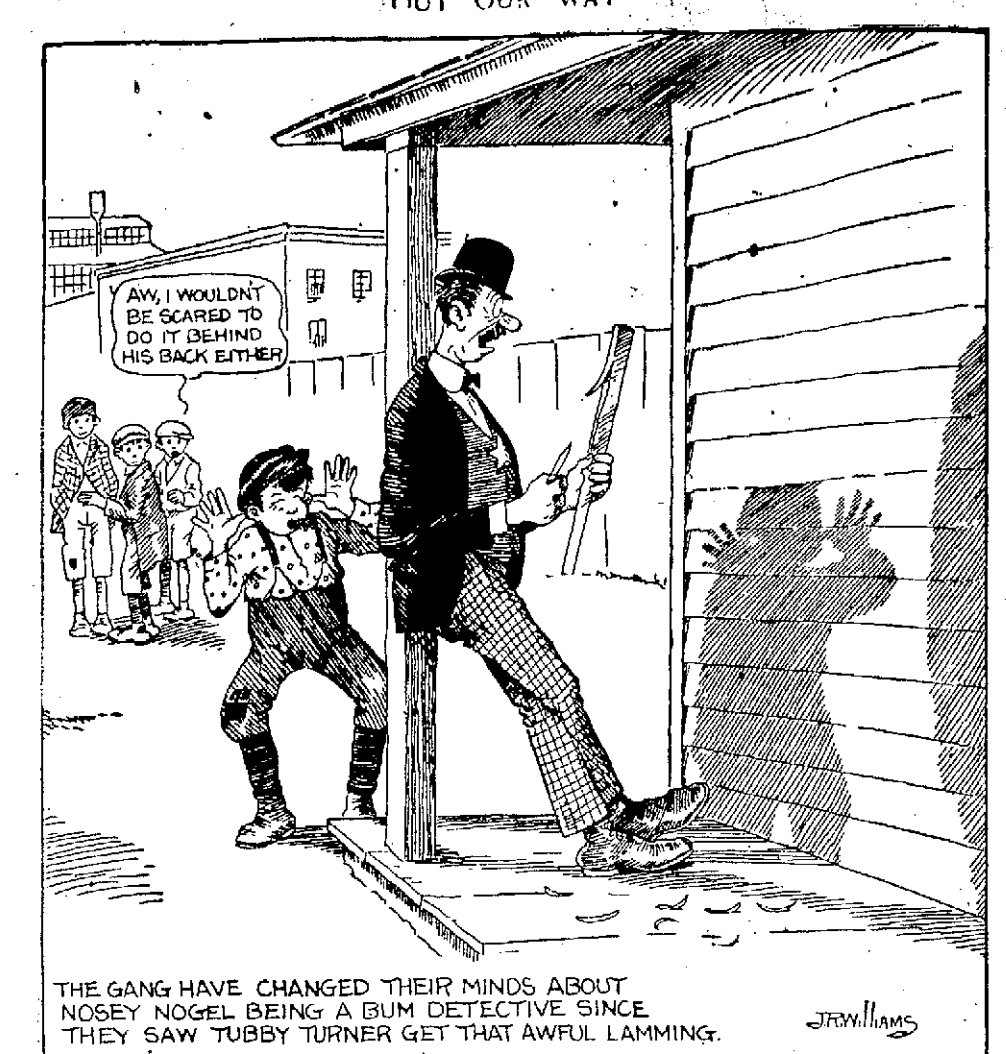

The supposition in some quarters is that the succeeding members of the army are trying to provide retaliation.

TO QUASH INDICTMENT BROAD UPWARD SWEEP

Business and Industrial Expansion Reflected in Today's Stock Dealings

NEW YORK, April 6.—Buoyancy characterized early trading on the stock exchange today. Dealings in the first two hours, at gains of one to four points, were estimated at 750,000 shares.

Overnight buying orders were on the most extensive scale of any day since the present bull market got under way. High records for a year or more were established by many leaders, including U. S. Steel and Norfolk & Western.

The strength of coal shares was regarded as especially significant. There was scarcely an exception to the broad upward sweep of prices. The further rise was based largely on the many signs of business and industrial expansion and the strength of the investment market.

PITTSBURGH, April 6.—The Pittsburgh Coal Producers' association declined the invitation of Chairman Nolan of the house labor committee to meet with the operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and the officers of the United Mine Workers for a conference on the coal strike in Washington, April 10.

N. E. CONFERENCE OF M. E. CHURCH

MAINE, April 6.—The New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today voted against a proposal to divide its territory into three or five, instead of the present four districts.

The conference directed a committee to revise the list of special appointments so that clergymen who are engaged in business or other activities outside the church would be returned to ministerial duties or dropped from the rolls.

It was announced that 50 ministers would be ordained Sunday, a number in excess of that at any previous conference.

WATKINS SAYS MINERS REPUDIATED CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The coal strike as it has affected the bituminous field of central Pennsylvania was blamed on the miners today by T. R. Watkins, spokesman for the operators' association there who declared the break was due to the positive refusal of the miners to negotiate with employers. He was appearing before the house labor committee, which has heard the union's national leaders declare the strike was occasioned by refusal of the operators to negotiate for a new wage scale.

Mr. Watkins said the men were "repudiating their own principles of collective bargaining and violating their own contracts by refusing themselves to negotiate with operators in districts outside of the central fields."

President Lewis gave "very misleading testimony," Mr. Watkins asserted, "on coal prices." Turning to anthracite issues, he said:

"These labor lords have been guilty of abuse of power in calling an anthracite strike when the mine owners were meeting their every call for meeting and negotiation."

Union leaders were charged by Mr. Watkins, with "gross ignorance of economic law" and he added that "unfortunately a union leader can't hold his place unless he finds grievances to press and fight."

LOWELL NORMAL SCHOOL LECTURE

Faculty and Students Addressed by Specialist in Physical Education

Interesting Talk on Correction of Physical Defects in School Children

Miss Mary M. Callahan, a specialist in physical education in the public schools of Worcester, addressed the faculty and students of the Lowell Normal school yesterday afternoon on "Corrective Work for Physical Defects of School Children." Miss Callahan spoke principally of the correct methods of sitting and standing, devoting a portion of her time to proper methods of eating, and the prevention of defects is still more valuable than their correction.

The speaker began by discussing the sitting position, describing proper methods and those which are improper. She stressed the point that one should not sit so that one's weight rests on the abdomen. In standing, said Miss Callahan, one should always stand with limbs in symmetrical position, with hips on a level. Children are prone to imitate their elders, and should be set a good example. The work of adults should be one of prevention rather than correction.

In her work in Worcester, said Miss Callahan, she made few corrections in the first year. It takes several months for corrections, and in cases of disproportionate structure, a long time is needed to restore the affected figures to their normal places. About one-half the body's weight is muscular; therefore, an unnatural position is a great strain. The only stand squarely upon one's feet is the only method by which one may endure strains upon the body. The knees should not be kept too lax, they need not be kept rigid, as a soldier's, but should be pulled up as to keep the body erect. This, in connection with throwing out one's chest, helps one's breathing. The head should be held erect, not by tilting the chin, but by elevation at the back.

Standing and sitting are two important items, but how and what one eats is equally important. Guiltless food, hastily, with frequent drinks which hamper the work of the digestive organs, should be corrected. Cleanliness in children has been successfully enforced by conducting examinations, with the pupils as examiners. Miss Callahan told of a successful experience of this sort, which was attended by splendid results.

The speaker then discussed the classification of children according to physical appearance, mainly in position of the head, in sitting or standing. She told how it had been systematized in schools under her supervision, and of the results attained. Very bad cases are reported to the school nurses. If cases are discovered which appear incurable by regular methods, aid is secured from physicians.

From 14 to 16 are the years in which the bones are setting, and after that time correction is almost out of the question.

Walking is another thing which deserves attention. It is an operation of lifting and stepping, not of moving hips from side to side.

If the nurse is given proper information in difficult cases, she may do much better work. The out-door departments of certain hospitals are utilized, and work is done exclusively by selected surgeons. A careful record of progress is kept in each case, all improvements being noted in chronological order.

Miss Callahan said, in closing, there are three things which are to be accomplished, to prevent deformities, to correct deformities, and to care for those which are incurable.

At the close of Miss Callahan's lecture, Miss Anna Hillery, president of the School and Society league, extended on behalf of her fellow-students, hearty thanks for the excellent address, promising that the school-teachers-to-be would never forget her instructions.

Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church to Observe Anniversary

The Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church will celebrate the 45th anniversary of its inception on Sunday with a communion breakfast at 8.30 o'clock, and appropriate exercises to be held in the society hall. A beautiful chalice will be presented to the church as a thanksgiving offering.

Just 45 years ago the Holy Name society was established in America. Five years after the founding of the society in this country, Rev. Bernard F. McKenna, the great Dominican preacher, came to this city to conduct a mission at St. Patrick's. A branch of the society was formed here at that time. That was 45 years ago next month, or in May, 1877.

As a strange coincidence, Fr. McKenna's successor, as head of the Dominican missions, Rev. J. H. Healey, O.P., is now conducting a mission at St. Patrick's. With Fr. Healey present, and the anniversary such a short way ahead, it was decided to have the exercises next Sunday. Fr. Healey will tell of the wonderful work done by the Holy Name society and also of the labors of Rev. Fr. McKenna.

James O'Sullivan, a charter member of the St. Patrick's Holy Name and at the present time its president, will preside over the meeting. He will outline the history of the society, which, by the way, is the oldest branch of the Holy Name in this city.

A VERY RETICENT TRAFFIC OFFICER

On Tuesday of this week the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce, through its chairman, Henry A. Smith, requested the police authority to place a silent traffic officer at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, and the request was complied with in just one hour, the place of apparatus being installed in record time.

Another request from the committee that a larger sign marking the road to Nashua and other New Hampshire cities be placed at the corner of Colonial avenue and John street, to replace the small sign now in position, is under consideration. It is thought by the police that a better route would be that over the new Pawtucketville bridge, as the pavement on the Moody street bridge is in poor condition.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON HILDRETH BUILDING

When the work of reconstructing a portion of the ground floor of the Hildreth building began today the sign that formerly marked the store of Mitchell the Tailor was taken down, thereby bringing to light a sign of much older things. The sign read "Lowell Tailor." Generally speaking, people had forgotten that the postoffice ever was located in Merrimack square, but the sign quickly brought back recollections.

The city's postal business was carried on there for a number of years, until sometime in the early thirties, when the present federal building was erected at Appleton and Gorman sts.

There has been built over a portion of the sidewalk in front of the building a regular "big town" station of a type seldom if ever used in this city.

X. A. Delisle Says He Is Not Entitled to Reception Honors in Temporary Position

Acting Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle has declined the invitation of the Lowell Letter Carriers' association to attend a reception planned in his honor on Saturday evening of this week, for the reason that he is only the acting postmaster and as such feels that he is not entitled to any such expression on the part of the men.

The reception plans called for the attendance of both Mr. Delisle and John F. Meohan, retiring postmaster, and while Mr. Delisle feels that it is fitting and proper for the men to thus honor their former chief, he does not feel that he is entitled to a share of it.

Mr. Delisle has informed members of the carriers' association that while he has become more thoroughly schooled in his office, he might accept an invitation to attend one of the organization's regular meetings.

GIRLS ARE DRIVEN FROM MILL BY FIRE

Several girl employees of the Lowell Waste Co. at 705 Gorman street, were forced to leave their work and rush out of the building shortly before 8.30 o'clock this morning. The cause for the hasty exit was a fire in a waste picking machine.

It is believed that spontaneous combustion was responsible for the blaze, which quickly spread to bales of cotton near the machine and then worked its way through a chute to the next floor above. An alarm was sounded from box 223, but when the firemen reached the premises, the fire had practically been extinguished by the automatic sprinkler.

Giving subscriptions or donations to charity is viewed with suspicion in Burnham.

BUSINESS FOR LOCAL CONCERNS

Officials at the chamber of commerce have received a communication from the E. D. Ward Co., who are to make the alterations for the new S. S. Kroger store on Merrimack street, to the effect that it is the company's policy to trade with building material dealers as far as possible in the city in which they are working. The chamber authorities are gratified at this assurance of business for local concerns.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Men Arrested in Connection With Big Moonshine Raid, Arraigned Today

As an aftermath of the big raid on Gorman street yesterday afternoon Antonio Luz and Francisco Gonzales appeared before Judge Lawrence in district court this morning charged with illegal keeping of liquor. The case was not tried, however, a continuance being granted until April 22.

This raid is said to be the biggest ever conducted in the city. Both federal and local officers were engaged in the operation, and descended upon the premises of the Fair Grounds garage, finding a large underground room containing 450 gallons of moonshine, a corn of granulated sugar, 1400 gallons of mash, a 150 gallon still, several 100 gallon cans, 40 barrels, a number of oil stoves and a bountiful supply of apparatus. Two other attempts have been made to locate the underground distillery, but have been unsuccessful. Those who participated in the raid were Federal Officers Harry G. Shelton and J. Walter Bowers; Sergeant Michael H. Winn and Officers Andrew Huntley, Adelard Cossette, Frank Maloney, Indor Trudel, Timothy Dwyer and Jose V. Noye of the local liquor squad. The still was found in operation, with Luz and Gonzales present.

For Illegal Sale

Antonio Markiewicz was called to trial for illegal sale of liquor, but the defendant was ordered defaulted, when it was found that no one was present to answer the charge.

Henry Sess and Joseph Saliba, who appeared in court yesterday charged with breaking and entering and attempted larceny in the night time at a barbershop in Paige street, pleaded guilty and were held in bonds of $500 each for the grand jury.

A charge of receiving stolen property was brought against John Tsafaras, but when it was found that he was concerned in a case now before the grand jury, he was held until Monday, pending the grand jury's decision.

The continued case of Ernest Brunelle for having in his possession obscene pictures, was before the court this morning, but the judge said that the trial would be deferred a few days longer, and that in the meantime he intended to get in touch with the police chief in Wilton, N. H., relative to Brunelle's record.

Herbert B. Zando, charged with non-support, was continued for two months.

Tura Larson was arraigned for assault and battery on two little boys, but an agreement, the boys' mother, by which Larson was dismissed with payment of costs to the amount of $2.40. The assault occurred as a result of snow-balling on the part of the boys, who were ducked in a pail of water by Larson.

Andras Nalwalko, a drunken offender was on the point of being defaulted when his lawyer rushed into the court-room with a doctor's certificate to the effect that Nalwalko was too ill to appear. The case was continued until next Monday.

TANNERY FIREMEN ARE OUT ON STRIKE

The latest development in the strike of the employees of the American Leather & Leather Co. occurred this morning when the six firemen employed at the tannery walked out of the plant after refusing to shovel coal from the cars on the spur tracks of the company in the rear of the plant into the coal pits.

The care of fuel, six in number, have been on the spur tracks for several days, but up to this morning no attempt was made to unload them. It was stated that when the firemen reported for work this morning they were ordered to shovel the cars, and were told that they would have to either do so or get out, and a walk-out followed. It is said that the men refused to do the work on the ground that it was altogether out of their line. This work, it is reported, has heretofore been done by laborers in the employ of the company and these men are out on strike.

Organizer Eben and Secretary Cherron of the National Leather Workers' union, who are conducting the local strike, left last night for Woburn, where it was reported a strike would take effect this morning in one of the tanneries of that city. The grievances there, it is said, are because of working conditions and not because of wage difficulties.

THE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

On Wednesday evening, April 12 the annual meeting of the High School Alumni association will be held at the high school for the election of officers and the receiving of reports of the treasurer and secretary. The association has recently lost by death its vice president, Hon. John J. Hogan, and a successor must be elected. The association will undoubtedly have a part in dedicating the new high school, so a large meeting is looked for next week. All persons at any time enrolled as members of the high school are eligible to membership and are asked to consider that they are invited to the meeting.

PITTSBURGH, Kan., April 6.—The Southwest Interstate Coal Operators' association has invited the Kansas union miners to meet representatives of the association in a conference at Kansas City Monday to consider negotiations for a new contract.

JUDGE TALKS TO HIS JURORS

Justice Lawton Takes Advantage of Hiatus in Lowell Superior Court Session

Interestingly Explains Duties of Jury and Cites Cases as Examples

Judge Frederick Lawton, presiding justice at the Lowell session of the superior court, took advantage of the absence of cases ready for trial today and addressed the jurors on the subject of broken-up sessions and certain problems they would probably have to deal with during the next 11 weeks.

A number of cases had been listed for trial today but, owing to absence of counsel, illness of witnesses and settlement of cases, there was none ready for actual trial. The jurymen were excused until tomorrow.

Judge Lawton opened his remarks by saying that the court was confronted with a problem that often happens in the course of jury and court sessions. "We have no cases ready for actual trial," he said, "and it is not the fault of the court or of the clerks or of anyone connected with the cases. It is just the result of circumstances."

Have a Right to Know

"I am telling you men this because you are citizens of this county, because you are taxpayers and have a right to know where the money goes that is used for the running of this court. Doubtless you have seen a lot of money. Apparently it is wasted, as we are not to conduct a session."

"You gentlemen were all here Monday and heard the marking of the cases. You heard a number of them scheduled to be tried today. But we have no cases for various reasons. Some of the cases are trying cases in other courts, some of the witnesses in cases are too ill to be here and the remainder of the cases scheduled were settled out of court."

"As citizens of this county, as taxpayers and as jurymen, you might ask why more cases were not marked for this date. It is not the practice to have more cases marked for a day than can be reached. It is not fair to people to come here and wait around all day for their cases to come up. It involves a great deal of added expense."

"I might say a word regarding the conduct of the English court in this respect. Although there are a great number of cases in that country, they are all tried in London. They have a better system of marking than we have. When a case is marked for trial it must be tried if either party insists. Either party in the case would not dare to go into court and ask for a postponement owing to the absence of a lawyer. The court expects the people to have counsel there on time. If their own particular lawyer is not available, they must get someone else to look after the case."

Consolation for the Court

"You know the court's consolation in regard to no sessions on account of case settlements is that litigation has not been found necessary. The law encourages settlements, and the law who owe money or debts of any kind to pay them without resorting to court action. Then of course if action is threatened, the court is surely glad if the cases are settled without being brought to trial."

"There is something I wish to call to your attention which may be brought before you some time during a trial. The plaintiff's counsel may ask the defendant in a case if, at some time, a conversation was held relative to a settlement of the case. This will be objected to by defense counsel and the objection sustained. The reason for this is the law encourages settlements, and if conversations relative to settlements were introduced as evidence, people would be afraid to talk over a case, regarding a settlement, before it was brought into the courts."

About Duties on the Jury

"Last Monday I had intended to talk to you men about your duties on the jury, but the great amount of work prevented that. I am going to take this opportunity. I do not mean to cast any reflections upon any one of you. I hope you will not construe my remarks as such. Often times, in cases, you will be compelled to make certain findings which you may wish you could reverse. You must remember the oath you take that you will make your findings solely on the evidence submitted to you regardless of what you may otherwise think. Some men have an idea they should dispose of a case in what they consider the fairest manner to them. This cannot be the rule always; the evidence as admitted must be the chief concern."

"The court also cited many examples and gave an interesting and instructive talk to the 35 or more jurors present."
